NAZI SLAP AT CHAMBERLAIN STIRS BRITAIN

'Vacant Chair' Rebuke at Banquet Leads to Demand for Explanation.

LEAVE 50 SEATS EMPTY

But Premier Goes on to Warn 'Dictator States'; Diners Cheer His Speech.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — The Nazi "vacant chair" rebuke to Premier Chamberlain for criticism of the German press headed for house of commons debate today, amid speculation whether a positive barrier was developing to full peace understanding between the two countries.

The labor party drafted a question to the house for explanation today of the absence of the German ambassador and Nazi press representatives from the Foreign Press association dinner at which Chamberlain spoke last night.

Lengthy Debate Seen.

This likely will be followed by lengthy review of British-German relations during full dress foreign affairs debate on Monday, before the Christmas recess.

Political quarters saw in the absence of the Germans a sign of official Nazi displeasure with the British prime minister, since they presumably acted on orders from Berlin.

The Germans declined invitations to the important dinner attended by ambassadors of Belgium, Brazil, France, Poland, the Soviet Union and Italy, after reading advance copies of Chamberlain's speech.

It criticized a German press reference to former Premier Baldwin as a "guttersnipe" and cautiously warned aggressors that "attempts at domination are never long successful."

The declinations came so late that time did not permit rearrangement of tables to close the gaps. There were nearly 50 German newspapers and embassy absentees.

Bang on Tables.

Many at the dinner banged tabletops with their fists and there was loud and long applause for Chamberlain who did not alter his prepared text, except to refer to Germany and Italy as "dictator" states rather than "authoritarian."

The usual two police constables kept an eye on the German embassy this morning to watch for any sign of a popular demonstration, but a cold rain provided an even better curb for anti-Nazi ex-

U. S. SEEKS NEW TARIFF PACT

Pan-American Delegates Study Plan to Bind Republics to Lower Trade Barriers.

(By United Press)

LIMA, Peru — United States delegates are circulating in the eighth Pan-American conference a draft agreement which would bind all American republics to do all they can to lower tariff barriers, it was understood today.

It was intended, if the draft met with support, to submit it formally to the conference.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull believes that removal of restrictions against trade is one of the best remedies for the ills from which the world is suffering.

United States delegates have been so favorably impressed with the text of an Argentine draft declaration on continental solidarity against foreign attack that they may not even present a draft of their own, it was understood.

The Argentine proposal goes much farther than United States delegates had hoped would be possible. It was expected to provide for consultation among the 21

GETS SURPRISE IN PAPER BAG

Chicago Woman Looks for Groceries But Finds . . .

CHICAGO — (INS)—A thoughful neighbor rang Mrs. Charles Kohout's front doorbell.

"There's a bag of groceries been sitting out here for some time. I was afraid it was something that might freeze," she said.

Just then the paper bag crackled and emitted a low wail.

The two startled women found a warmly bundled baby inside.

A note pinned to its blanket stated:

"Please take care of him. I had to do it. God bless him."

The child was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

Gene Autry, Kid Hero, to Be Star of 'Can Matinee'

Is there a kid in Mansfield who isn't kuh-razy about Gene Autry, the movie hero who handles his vocal chords and two guns with equal facility?

Gene's picture "Comin' Round the Mountain" will be the feature at the Ritz theater's "can matinee" Saturday morning, when a can of food will admit a boy or girl to the theater.

There will be two "can matinees" on Saturday at the same hour—the Ritz and the Park. Both will have attractive programs, with action features, comedies, cartoons and news reels.

Both theaters open at 9:30 and the shows begin promptly at 10 a. m. The admission price is a can of food—a big can of tomatoes, corn, beans, peas or fruit.

Immediately after the shows the canned goods will be taken to the Salvation Army hall where it will be sorted and arranged for distribution on Saturday, Dec. 24, to Mansfield's needy families.

U. S. C. SETS UP 15-POINT PLAN FOR '39

Platform Drafted by Directors Includes Move for Uniform Numbering of Homes.

PUSHES PARKING METERS

Pledge to Aid City Officials in Solving Relief Burden Third New Objective.

A 15-point platform with three new objectives was drafted last night by the board of directors of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce as the organization's 1939 program of work.

The program is based on the results of a recent survey in which the 600 members of the Chamber were asked what they considered the most important and most constructive community and organization objectives, Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager said.

3 New Objectives.

The three new objectives outlined by the board were:

1. Sponsor a movement to obtain the uniform numbering of all residences and business establishments in Mansfield to conform with the city ordinance.

2. Work for the installation of parking meters in downtown Mansfield, a movement already endorsed by the organization and to sponsor a traffic safety movement.

3. Pledge co-operation to city officials in an effort to solve the city's relief problem which faces financial paralysis after the first of January unless the incoming state legislature provides funds for its administration.

Continue Old Moves.

The 12 other objectives which are a continuation of past years programs include:

Continued efforts toward the rehabilitation of the municipal water system and development of the supply to meet future demands, along with "redoubled efforts" to gain improvements of railway passenger stations.

Seek a reduction of fire insurance rates by obtaining additional fire protection facilities and by conducting educational fire prevention campaigns.

The program also calls for the launching of a movement looking toward a reform in city and county government, which the directors explained would include a study of the feasibility of introducing the question of city manager form of government to the voters of Mansfield.

Two other objectives are a continuation of work towards efficiency and economy in city, state

ROME SURPRISED

Government Orders Gas Masks Distributed to Italians.

ROME—(INS)—The Italian government today ordered landlords, industrialists and professional men to provide gas masks for members of their staffs before Dec. 31. This caused considerable surprise in Rome, because gas masks have been virtually unavailable in Italy heretofore to persons not connected with the army.

No reason for the Italian government's order regarding distribution of gas masks was given. Immediate speculation was aroused, however, over the possibility that it was issued as a precaution in view of the current Italo-French dispute regarding Tunisia, Corsica, Nice, Savoy and other French territories.

Gable-Lombard Marriage Near?

Clark Gable's announced intention to ask his wife, Mrs. Rhea Gable, to file suit for divorce, today appeared to be a step toward paving the way for the screen star's marriage to Actress Carole Lombard. The Gables have been separated under an agreement by which Gable was to pay his wife $300,000. He has already paid $286,000, his attorneys said, and the manner of making the final payments is to be determined by court order.

Screen's 'He-Man' Asks Wife to File for Divorce

Decree Sought by Gable to Pave Way for Marriage to Actress Carole Lombard, Hollywood Believes.

(By International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—The way was apparently paved today for Clark Gable, filmdom's No 1 "he-man," to marry Carole Lombard, the blond and beautiful screen actress.

Gable admitted yesterday that he plans to ask his wife, Mrs Rhea Gable, from whom he has been separated for more than three years, to obtain a divorce.

And it has been no secret to Hollywood that Gable wants very much to marry Miss Lombard the moment he is legally free. He refused to comment on the marriage angle, however, when he made the divorce announcement.

Gave Wife $285,000.

It was assumed that Mrs Gable would go to Reno to ask for a divorce from her famous husband.

When the Gables separated, they entered into a property settlement agreement by which Gable was to pay his wife $300,000. He has already paid Mrs. Gable about $286,000, and today attorneys for the couple will appear in court to settle differences between the two in regard to the manner in which the final payments are to be made.

Miss Lombard has been the constant and only object of Gable's affections for the past two and a half years.

PEACE MISSION?

Chinese Claim Japs Send High Army Officials With Plan.

SHANGHAI—(U.P.)—Chinese political sources said today that Japan's most famous military figure, Gen. Kenji Doihara, was approaching Chinese leaders with a plan for settlement of the war in China.

Doihara, a mysterious militarist with an almost legendary reputation as an undercover agent, brought instructions for a settlement, the Chinese asserted, but it was highly uncertain whether the Kuomintang (national government party) leaders would be interested.

AGED ASHLAND MAN KILLED AS AUTO UPSETS

William Stoops, 77, Fatally Injured Near Mifflin; Son, 53, Escapes.

CRASH FRACTURED NECK

Car Skids and Overturns Near County Line on Level Highway.

William Stoops, 77, of near Mifflin, was fatally injured when the car in which he was riding skidded and overturned one quarter of a mile west of Mifflin on U. S. route 30 at 6 p. m. yesterday. The accident occurred in Ashland county, near the Richland county line.

Mr. Stoops was riding in a car driven by his son, Charles E. Stoops, 53, also of near Mifflin. When the car overturned, Stoops was crushed in the wreckage, and was dead when the car was righted by passing motorists and a state highway patrolman

His death was the result of a fractured neck, Dr. George Emery, Ashland county coroner, said. Dr. Emery gave a verdict of accidental death.

On Level Stretch.

The men were traveling east, and were on a level stretch of highway when the accident happened, State Highway Patrolman C. W. Cale said. Charles Stoops suffered only a small cut on the right hand.

Neither Patrolman Cale nor the younger Stoop could advance any reason for the accident. However, members of the family advanced the theory that the brakes might have locked on the car, a large and heavy coupe, causing it to plunge off the road and turn over.

Funeral Friday.

Mr. Stoops was born June 31, 1861, in Pennsylvania and spent most of his live in the vicinity of Mifflin. Surviving besides his son are a daughter, Mrs. C. C. Burns, of near Mifflin, a sister, Mrs. Sarah Flenner of Lucas, eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Friday at the Wappner funeral home, and burial will be in Zehner cemetery near Mifflin. The family asked that flowers be omitted.

Jury Returns Indictments In Ohio Officer's Kidnaping.

LEBANON —(AP)— The Warren county grand jury, meeting in special session, indicted two men and two women today on charges of robbery and kidnaping in connection with the abduction last Thursday night of Corp. Parker W. Powell of the state highway patrol.

Witnesses during the one-hour session were Corp Powell, Supt. Lynn Black, and Sergt. J. W. Ulmer of the state patrol and Sheriff William Hufford.

Soaring Yule Sales Cheer City Stores

Look for Holiday Volume To Exceed Last Year's By 5 Per Cent.

The tinkle of cash registers in Mansfield retail stores this week is playing a merry tune that indicates an increased Christmas business volume, topping that of last year, a survey revealed today.

Hundreds of extra clerks are on hand to accommodate Yule shoppers who are surging through the downtown stores in a buying rush that will hit its stride Friday and continue through next week, V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, predicted.

Lodde said that a survey showed sales here placed Mansfield ahead of larger cities in the state where merchants do not expect the Christmas business to exceed the 1937 level.

He said Mansfield retail stores report a general increase of five per cent in their Yule business over last year and indications are that the volume increase would be boosted even higher during the final week.

Increased employment and higher payrolls, Lodde said, have provided the chief stimulant to Christmas trade in the past two weeks. Earlier, the unseasonable weather had kept the increase below that reported in 1937.

An increase in sales has boosted the volume dollar above the 1937 level but individual sales are lower than those of last year," Lodde said merchants reported.

In Mansfield as throughout the state in cities of comparable size, decreases in both WPA and direct relief rolls combined with steadily increasing private employment provide the most optimistic note.

However, in Akron, Cleveland and Cincinnati where improved employment were reported, merchants predicted that they would be "fortunate" if the total volume of the holiday trade equalled last year's.

They gave as the principal reasons, "too much rain and not enough cold."

In Lorain the Retail Merchants' association was one of the few in the state to predict that this year's business would surpass the 1937 figure.

Besides temporary jobs in nearly every Ohio city as the Christmas

Singer Marries Alderman in Midst of Ex-Mate's Trial.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —(U.P.)—Ruth Etting, famous blues singer, and Myrl Alderman, the boy friend whom her divorced husband recently shot, flew here today and were married.

In a surprise move, Miss Etting and Alderman left Los Angeles in the midst of the trial of her divorced husband, Martin (Colonel Moe, the Gimp) Snyder, charged with attempting to kidnap and murder Alderman.

While Snyder fidgeted outside a Los Angeles courtroom waiting to tell a jury why he shot Alderman, the couple sped to an airport, boarded a Paul Mantz plane and flew here.

The plane reached Las Vegas shortly before 8 a. m. fifteen minutes later Miss Etting and Alderman entered the Clark county courthouse.

LEAVES DEATH ROW FOR LIFE TERM IN PEN

Hold-Up Slayer's Sentence Commuted Because 3 Pals Got Off With Life.

'UNFAIR', GOVERNOR SAYS

Aids Equally Guilty But Were Saved From Chair, Executive Points Out.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Gov. Martin L. Davey today commuted the death sentence of 22-year-old George Wells of Akron to life imprisonment. Wells had been scheduled to be electrocuted at Ohio penitentiary tonight

Wells was convicted in the hold-up slaying of William Pantages, Akron cafe owner.

Davey declared in a statement:

"I have decided to commute the death sentence of George Wells to life imprisonment for the following reasons:

Three Got Life.

"Four young men were involved in this holdup murder. Three were given life sentences and Wells was condemned to die.

"According to the record there were two trigger men, the other of whom was given a life sentence. All four were potential murderers because all carried guns and were ready to use them if the occasion required.

"It seemed a little unfair that only one of the four should go to the electric chair when two were equally guilty and all four were of equal potential guilt.

"Furthermore the motivating force and the worse culprit was a much older man who planned the robberies and who directed the four youngsters in their brief career of crime in order to get his share of the money."

Wells asked the executive for a commutation to life imprisonment, basing his plea chiefly on the argument that his punishment should be no greater than that given three youths who took part in the robbery with him. They received life sentences.

But if he had to die, Wells said, "I am not afraid, because I know in my heart that I am right with God."

Hundreds Join In Christmas Carol Singing Friday

Mansfield's Christmas spirit will be given new impetus Friday night when hundreds of the city's singers join in the annual Christmas carol community sing in Central park.

Sponsored by the Mansfield Public Parks association and the Retail Merchants association, the program will start at 7:30 p. m. when Mayor Claude M. Hunter will express the city's greeting to the audience. The program will last an hour.

Charles Conklin will lead the singing, with the city's outstanding choral groups promising to form one of the largest choruses ever heard in Mansfield.

Participating in the program will be the Mansfield Liederkranz, Westinghouse Glee club, Jonathan Glee club, Newman Mothersingers, the junior high school chorus directed by Miss Fannie Lew Eiler, the choirs from a number of churches, and others

Special features will include members by Eugene Smart s brass orchestra and vocal solos by Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman and Miss Jane Weuthrick.

Arrangements for the sing are in charge of a committee headed by Edward Wyllie.

He shot his wife when he found her in bed at the home of a friend, with a "man" lying in an adjoining bed. After the murder, he discovered that the "man" was their 12-year-old son.

FACING CHARGE

Son of Ohio Sheriff Accused of Dayton Auto Theft.

GLASGOW, Ky. — (AP) — Police Chief George B. Berry said today that Calvin Rowe, 19, missing since last week until he was picked up by police here last night, admitted the theft of an automobile in Dayton, O.

Berry said Rowe, son of Sheriff Martin Rowe of Adair county, was being held in jail pending arrival of department of justice agents whom Berry said he had summoned.

DISCUSS SUIT

Attorney and Commissioners in Parley Over Contract.

County officials and Atty. J. H. Gongwer, representing the Purdy Construction company, Mansfield, conferred at the courthouse today on prospective court action over the $68,000 county PWA road paving project, but the matter apparently was at a stand-still following the conference.

Meanwhile, it was understood that the contract, awarded two days ago to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company had been forwarded to Washington for approval by PWA officials.

Commissioners said they were awaiting the filing of the injunction suit before they take further action. The suit had not been filed at noon today.

W. W. Purdy, head of the Purdy company, whose low bid was rejected because it quoted a figure on gravel instead of limestone, said yesterday he would file suit.

'Big Time' Act to Be Yule Dance Feature

Made Hit With King of Sweden, Now Star on American Stage; They'll Do Stuff for Muster-Cheers.

It seems a little absurd to mention the Mansfield Y. M. C. A. and the King of Sweden in the same sentence, but somewhere between the two there lies a local-boy-makes-good story, with Ray "Peewee" Turner as the hero.

A parallel story which began on that same gym floor carried another Mansfield boy to a star "spot" at Radio City Music hall, the world's largest theater, with Turner. And that was Trentiss Barney.

And Ray and Trent, the best known and highest paid acrobatic duo in America—and that means the world, since European entertainers receive far less than American—will be a star act at the Muster Cheer Christmas ball and floor show at the Coliseum, Dec. 19.

The same act that played the Strand theater in New York three weeks ago on the same bill with Wayne Morris, movie star who made a personal appearance with his picture "Brother Rat," and with Johnny "Scat" Davis, and which opens at the Chicago theater a week from Friday, will be given at the Coliseum to help fill Christmas baskets for unfortunate families in Mansfield.

Ray is a native Mansfielder and Trent came to Mansfield with his mother, Mrs. Fanny Barney, when he was 17.

Ray began imitating the "benders" at the circuses when he was 9 years old, and was the wonder of his school mates because of his "limber back."

An old Mansfield photographer, Gale Brittson, who had formerly been with circuses, became interested in the boy's unusual ability and they worked up an act together. They worked during school vacations on small time vaudeville circuits, but when Ray was 17 he formed a new act and began to make the big-time circuits.

In 26 years he has played the big theaters of every big city in America and toured 11 foreign countries. A few years ago The News-Journal carried a story on how his act—he was with a man and a woman then—was being billed as the hit of one of the London theaters

At Monte Carlo the King of Sweden and his party came to the

'Key Men' In U. S. Drug Inquiry to Surrender Today

FACE PRISON TERMS, FINES IF CONVICTED

Ailing McKesson President Might Be Given Bed-side Court Arraignment.

BULLETIN

FAIRFIELD, Conn. — (AP) — F. Donald Coster, president of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., and George S. Dietrich, assistant treasurer, surrendered to government agents here today after being served with warrants charging them with violation of the securities act of 1934.

Picture on Page 8.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Surrender of three key figures in the probe of McKesson & Robbins, $86,000,000 wholesale drug concern that has instituted bankruptcy proceedings, was expected today as federal, state and local agencies pressed their investigation of the firm's financial structure.

F. Donald Coster, president of McKesson & Robbins, and George Dietrich, assistant treasurer, were expected to surrender either at New Haven or Fairfield, Conn., on federal warrants charging false registration with the stock exchange.

Third Facing Charge.

The third person for whom a warrant has been issued is George Vernard of W. W. Smith & Co., a concern which allegedly handles sales for McKesson & Robbins in Canada. Vernard, who lives in Brooklyn, was expected to give up in New York

Coster reportedly is confined to his Fairfield home by illness and as a result arrangements may be made to give him a bed-side arraignment.

The federal securities act makes it a crime punishable by two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine to file false financial information with the securities and exchange commisison.

One mysterious angle in the McKesson & Robbins case is the whereabouts of $18,000,000 of the concern's listed assets of $86,000,000. Probers have been unable to locate this but they have unearthed evidence of dummy brokerage accounts and "phony" warehouses.

Bromfield Sees Culture Center Moving to U. S.

Back in New York for a short time, Louis Bromfield, world-famous Mansfield novelist who has returned to Ohio to make his home, said yesterday that the center of world culture is shifting from Europe to America.

The Pulitzer prize-winning author, who returned to the United States after 15 years as a voluntary expatriate, told a book and author luncheon in New York yesterday:

"You cannot appreciate the menace of Hitler and Mussolini. You cannot believe the atrocity stories you hear and read But they are all true. Nothing is impossible in the dictatorships.

"The center of the world culture is moving to America, if it is not already here. I'm convinced culture cannot live in Europe."

BROWN NAMED TO FARM POST

Bricker Picks Ex-Lawmaker to Head State Department of Agriculture.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Gov-Elect John W. Bricker today named John T. Brown of Mechanicsburg, former state legislator and lieutenant governor in 1929-30, to be director of agriculture.

Long an active Republican and president of the Ohio Bricker-for-Governor clubs in the recent campaign, Brown will replace Earl H. Hanefeld, who has headed the state agriculture department for the past eight years.

The appointment made the third cabinet post to be filled by Bricker. Late yesterday he announced that Col. Robert S. Beichtler of Columbus would become highway director, with Hal Sours of Akron as assistant director. More than a week ago the governor-elect named William S. Evatt of Cincinnati as director of finance.

Brown now is in the farm management business and is president of a farmers' mutual insurance company. For 20 years he was an Ohio State university agricultural extension lecturer at farmers' institutes. He received the gold badge award as a master farmer in 1926.

He served in the legislature from 1921 to 1929, and the following two years was lieutenant governor While in the house, he authored the original gasoline tax law.

Born on a farm near Plain City, Madison county, Brown was one of 12 children, 10 of whom studied at the National Normal university at Lebanon.

SUPREME COURT JURIST'S WIFE TO PLEAD TO SMUGGLING COUNT

NEW YORK — (INS) — A New York supreme court justice's wife, involved in a smuggling expose that already has brought a guilty plea for radio and screen comedian George Burns, was slated to leave a sick bed and plead today to charges of smuggling feminine finery into the United States.

She is Mrs. Elma N Lauer who is accused jointly with Albert N Chaperau, self-styled diplomat and intimate of Hollywood notables, of smuggling women's wearing apparel valued at approximately $1,800 into this country Chaperau, linked with Burns in an indictment charging they smuggled in $4,885 in jewelry, has pleaded not guilty to all accusations and remains in jail in default of $20,000 bail.

Burns, released in custody of his attorney, has rejoined his wife, Gracie Allen in Hollywood He is expected to be a witness for the prosecution in the Chaperau trial slated for Dec. 23 but not expected to open until after the holidays.

Before the trial gets under way at least six others, called "as prominent as Burns," may feel the sting of an indictment, said Supervisor of Customs John W. Roberts.

"We believe others as prominent as Burns had Chaperau bring jewelry from abroad which Chaperau did not declare."

Roberts explained that Burns actually did not bring the jewelry into this county. He stated, however, that the comedian knew the customs duty had not been paid on the jewelry that he bought.

The government contends that Chaperau, posing as a commercial attache of the Nicaraguan government, took advantage of the "courtesy of the port" extended to such officials and smuggled in the jewelry and finery in unexamined baggage.

POLICE TO QUIZ HEAD OF SOVIET TOURIST AGENCY

Navy's Confidential Plans Supplied to Agent, Federal Officers Charge.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES — The federal department of justice revealed today that it was holding the manager of the local office of Intourist, an agency of the Soviet Russia government, and a naturalized American citizen on suspicion of espionage.

The Soviet citizen was said to have talked three times by telephone with Soviet Charge d'Affairs Constantine Oumansky in Washington since his arrest Monday night.

The Soviet citizen was Mikhail Gorin, 34. The American was Hafis Salich, 35, and he was said to have have been an agent of the Naval Intelligence unit. Federal agents would say only that Salich was accused of supplying Gorin with confidential plans pertaining to national defense and with confidential navy department information concerning Japanese espionage in this country

The specific charge was violation of title 50, section 32, of the federal code, by communicating and transmitting to agents of a foreign government documents, writings, instruments and information relating to United States national defense.

Faces 20-Year Term.

Penalty in war time is death; in peace, a maximum of 20 years in prison.

The men were both arrested Monday night and were questioned all night They were held at county jail under $25.000 bail each

When arraigned, U S. Commissioner David B. Head set Dec. 24 for a hearing for both, but it was said that federal grand jury action would be taken before then.

Benjamin Harrison, U. S. Attorney, refused to comment, saying that the case was a matter for the state department to discuss if it was to be discussed

Salich was said to have had access to the U S naval data on warships, armaments and records of fleet maneuvers, vital information in this government's defense plans Gorin is a former Soviet consulate official here.

It was the second recent instance of espionage charges being filed here Karl Allen Drummond, 21, an aircraft factory worker, was accused of trying to peddle latest military plane secrets to the Japanese He was arraigned yesterday and his trial, without a jury, was set for Dec 22

IN THIRD DAY

Trial Over Land for Flood District Continues.

A trial to determine the amount the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy district must pay Mrs. Viola Boals for a flood easement on 74 acres of her farm in Weller township went into the third day this morning in common pleas court, and indications were that it would continue over into Thursday.

More than a dozen witnesses were to be examined yet in the case, as the conservancy district seeks to convince a jury that its offer to Mrs. Boals was sufficient to cover damage to her property.

The conservancy district filed the suit after Mrs Boals refused to accept its offer.

Judge Walter J Mougey of Wayne county is presiding

FAIR ENOUGH!

Employers Might Ponder Refusing to Hire Women Not Really Needing Jobs

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Probably nothing could be done about this by law, but the employers of this country and the politicians who control appointive positions could spread the available work to much greater advantage if they would make a practice of refusing to hire women who do not actually need the work and would gradually eliminate such women from their payrolls.

This would affect married women whose husbands are able to support them in reasonable security and comfort and a great number of single women who take jobs merely to have something to do until they marry and, having married, after a few years, retain their positions in competition with necessitous males who have dependent families. Certain individual alimony clients also would be included.

Of course, each case would have to be judged on its particular merits, and labor unions probably would intervene in some cases to protect the jobs of dues-paying members selected for dismissal in favor of men.

* * *

It is an explosive topic, as anyone may learn by introducing it in private conversation in mixed company, but the fact cannot be denied that many family units have more jobs than they need while many others have none and thus enjoy luxuries while the others lack bare necessities.

The proposal is no stranger in Washington, where, on being presented a few years ago, it was denounced as vicious on the ground that virtuous citizens of both sexes in the government employ would be compelled to forego holy matrimony and live in a state of sin to avoid economic injustice. This weemed to place a cash price—and not a very flattering price, either—on the virtue of those for whom the plea was offered, but that was a delicate phase of the subject, and emphasis was placed instead on the horrid role that Uncle Sam would play in forcing honorable American girls into a life of shame.

* * *

Nevertheless, there are in Washington, as well as in most other centers of the public service down to the county court houses and town halls, many married women, the wives of able and steady providers, who hold jobs that might otherwise be given to heads of families with no injustice of impairment of the public service.

From the time that women first entered business in considerable numbers they have had a depressing effect on wages Employers first engaged them as a type of coolie labor—widows left penniless and that daughters of poor families, paying them wages which they had to accept because they were in want. The young modern woman type came next, crowding into the employment market to take jobs which otherwise might have been given to men but in many cases without any real necessity.

So in time it came to be said, and with truth, too, that young men were not able to propose marriage and undertake family responsibilities because they couldn't make enough money The fact has been, however, that the presence of so many women, possibly pining for marriage, in the job market has depressed their own chances of matrimony by curtailing the supply of jobs and the level of wages for men.

* * *

Obviously if a young woman does not need work for her actual support but takes a job only to supply herself with luxuries and spending money, she need not hold out for a salary suitable to the work, and it certainly is no secret that employers take advantage of the fact that an applicant lives at home and is not the provider for the family.

Generally speaking, this proposal would eliminate no woman or girl in actual need of her wages, although it would be construed to that effect. It would, however, ease out of the employment market a vast number of more or less dilettante workers, many of them drawing sufficient pay to support a family in decent condition, and make room for unemployed men with responsibilities.

* * *

It can be accomplished only as a practice, not by law, and, naturally, some occupations would have to be exempt entirely It may be conceded without an argument, for instance, that the field of dancing and parading in the nude pelt in night clubs and world's fair attractions is safe for the distaff side even against the competition of jobless young males from the dramatic societies of Harvard and Princeton

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Sidney Toler got a lucky break. He fell into a role that probably will last as long as he does. He became Charlie Chan II. this great big easy-going veteran who hates to be called a veteran. And was he lucky!

Yeah Like a Bobby Jones Like a Notre Dame football team. Like a scant dozen of today's spear-carriers who will go in training, and work themselves silly, and ten years from now be the McCoy in stardom.

I've no proof, but I'm pretty sure that Sidney Toler planned it that way He knew that Sol Wurtzel was looking for a Chan to take the late Warner Oland's place in that series which had earned a million a year. He knew that Wurtzel would be seeing him in another Wurtzel picture, "Up the River."

In that one he had the role of a confidence man. Movie confidence men are, by all the rules, breezy fellows. Sidney Toler persuaded the director that this con man should be quiet, subtle and restrained.

In "Up the River," Sidney Toler played Charlie Chan—omitting only his Chinese inflections And it happened as he had planned it.

* * *

TOLER is the son of a Kansas traveling salesman, and he could be a good one himself He plays poker and bridge well, will take a drink and smokes anything handy. He's a good listener to jokes and stories but tells few himself. He's about 55, but he's a little touchy on that score. Thinks he looks younger and he does. Plays golf and tennis regularly, but not spectacularly. It keeps him fit.

When "Charlie Chan in Honolulu" is released he—and the studio—will know whether he is to continue as Chan. There's a possibility that the fans won't accept a substitute for Oland. If they'll accept anyone, they ought to like Toler. He's working hard enough. Since starting work, he has gone very Chinese. Wears a Chinese robe on the set, has shirts and handkerchiefs with Chinese monograms. Speaks in the Chan form of English much of the time, getting accustomed to it.

* * *

HIS stage career began when he took part in high school plays in Wichita, Kan., blossomed further at Kansas university. Professionally he began with Julia Marlowe, about 1901. Hollywood "discovered" him in the stage production of "It's a Wise Child" some 30 years later, proving how slow Hollywood can be on the uptake. He has been in pictures ever since. He has written plays, some of which have seen Broadway production, most of which have found success with amateur and school groups From these he collects royalties—amout $10 a performance—and enjoys a fair income.

When Sen Yung, the Chinese boy playing Charlie's No. 2 son, was being tested for the role an assistant director noticed that Toler appeared to take a lot of Sen's troubles on himself

"That was my fault," he'd say when a take went wrong. "I didn't cue the boy in right."

Later the assistant complimented Toler on his "generosity."

"Thank you very much," beamed Toler, "but the fact is—I was looking out for little Sidney, too. After all I can look only as good as the boy looks—and I wanted to look good."

TROUBLE PROMISED TYGERS FRIDAY WHEN HAMILTON COMES TO CITY.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

HAMILTON boasts of the greatest basketball team to represent the city on the scholastic court in several years.

This fact was brought to light in answer from Bill Moeller of the Hamilton Journal-News to a query from this department regarding the prospects of this season's Big Blue outfit.

Sarringhaus

This bit of news should be of some interest to followers of the cage sport in the city, but rather unpleasant news for Coach Russ Murphy and his Tygers of Mansfield high school.

You see, Murphy's Tygers engage the crack Hamilton quintet in their home debut Friday night, and right now it looks like it may turn out to be a bad evening for the home breds.

Hamilton won the state championship two years ago. This was a great ball club, we are told, but down there in southern Ohio they feel that the basketeers Coach Jim Hall brings to the city this weekend pack more class than the title winners.

This assertion may be subject to question, but it is not difficult to see that the Hamilton crowd is pretty well sold on the caliber of ball the Big Blue has displayed so far in this campaign.

The Big Blue got off to a nice start when it romped over Columbus Aquinas, 38 to 25, and showed even more class in the defeat of Columbus East, 42 to 13, last week-end.

According to our informant in Hamilton, Hall's team is experienced in every post. Several of the players are holdovers from the championship quintet, we understand.

Six-footers dominate the team. In fact, the only player less than six feet is Paul Sarringhaus, a guard, who is one inch under that mark.

* * *

Sarringhaus No. 1 Hamilton Athlete.

SARRINGHAUS, by the way, is the No. 1 athlete in Hamilton history, Moeller writes. Only a junior, Sarringhaus has been mentioned twice on the all-Ohio scholastic football teams and once on the all-state cage club.

His skill on the grid and court is all the more remarkable when you consider that he is a victim of weak eyes. Out of action, he wears thick-lensed glasses and can hardly see across the floor.

Sarringhaus' running mate is Capt. John Born, who is a deadly distance marksman and a good defensive player.

The forward berths are filled by George Dreher and Roscoe Messer. Moeller writes that Dreher is exceptionally fast with a near perfect basket eye. Messer is an expert ball handler.

Chet Lairson, at center, is a "dream" ball player. He towers a mere six-feet-five in his stocking feet. His height makes him practically unstoppable under the basket. A two-letter winner, he has averaged better than 10 points since winning a regular post on the Hamilton club.

All members of the starting lineup appeared in 10 or more games last season. Another member of last season's state tournament team is Bill Miller, a guard. The only man of value of the 1937-37 team lost by graduation was Warren Scholler.

Yes sir, all indications point to a lot of trouble for the Tygers Friday night.

PROOF OF POPULARITY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The census bureau offered proof today of the rise of sports as a major American industry.

The American manufacturers of athletic goods turned out $44,460,525 worth of equipment in 1937—a gain of 27.5 per cent.

Tribe Seeks Deals

Cleveland Officials Anxious to Talk Trade With Tigers in New York City.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — (AP) — The big league baseballers still are meeting all over the premises and nothing much has happened yet, except that the boys from the National league side of the family have gone on record as not exactly opposing the yellow ball.

The heavyweight thinkers of the two leagues are making a noble effort to get together and construct some news. By and large, it turns out that they mostly are only meeting and cutting up old touches. They simply like to talk.

Discuss Radio.

Yesterday the American leaguers were arguing about the radio. They did not want to injure minor league territory by baiting the customers away from minor league games with broadcasts of big league struggles. Will Harridge finally got around to saying the club owners were agreed that any club that wished to make arrangements for the radio broadcasting of its games might do so.

The National league follows the same sort of scheme, leaving the question of broadcasting to its individual members.

The question of night baseball is troubling the American leaguers. The circuit never had had night baseball although permission was granted the St. Louis Browns to play under lights two years ago. It looks now as if night baseball will make its debut in the league next season.

A rule governing night baseball is being prepared and will be presented to the owners at today's meeting. Like the rule in the National it probably will limit each team to seven night games. But unlike the National league rule, it will be permanent. It will not have to be readopted each year.

The American league has practically committed itself to a "dead" ball something like the one used by the National league last year. The National leaguers have voted to carry 25 men on each team's payroll. The American leaguers cling to their limit of 23 men per team, but they may have two men on the "disability list," which amounts to the same thing.

There still are many trades in the air. Cleveland still is trying to peddle some players and is taking almost constantly about it with Detroit. Something may come of it. The Yankees, alone, are not in the marts. Having won the world series three times running, they expect to win it again as they stand

As expected, both leagues voted down the suggestion of Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, that all players be paid their salaries from the beginning of spring training, in order to discourage holdouts.

Obtain Hassett.

The Boston Bees have another 300 hitter in their line-up—that makes two—having obtained Buddy Hassett in yesterday's deal with Brooklyn. The Brooklyns likewise think they stoutened their fences with the acquisition of Gene Moore, an outfilder, and Ira Hutchinson, a pitcher, in the same deal.

Then the Bees and Brooklyns swapped again This time Joe Stripp, the third baseman, went from Boston in exchange for Fred Frankhouse, an aged, righthanded curve ball pitcher, in a deal which means even less than you think.

Seek Third Straight Victories Thursday.

The Blue Goose Sohioans and Rex Billiards had their eyes set on third straight victories as they returned to action in the Senior A league at the Friendly House Thursday night.

The Sohioans meet the Augustine Canfield Oils in the opening game at 6:45 p. m., and the Billiards, defending titlists, engage the Raemelton Farm in the middle tilt. The final game will pit the Musille Cigars against the Miller Dairys.

Nine Straight Strikes Give Reed of Freight League 279

Messmore, Dunn Set Scoring Pace in Tire Matches at Meder Alleys.

BILL REED of the Globe Steels of the Motor Freight league piled up a 279 score at the Meder Recreation alleys last night to account for one of the major games of the season.

Reed started his last game with nine strikes in a row and the 10 pin stood on what appeared to be a perfect hit in his bid for a perfect game.

The Globe Steel star shot other games of 179 and 158 to lead the league with a 616.

Opening with a 236, Messmore followed with two 190 games to reach the 626 figures in the Mansfield Tire league. He bowled with the Tire store. Jim Dunn, jr., of Production Development was next high with a 624.

EAGLES' OWNER READY TO DEAL WITH O'BRIEN

PHILADELPHIA —(UP)— Bert Bell, owner and coach of the Philadelphia Eagles pro football team, announced today that the "pay will be all right" to assure the presence of Dave O'Brien, whirlwind Texas Christian University All-American, in the Eagles lineup next season.

The Texan was selected by Bell in the annual draft at New York last Friday, but it was not known definitely whether O'Brien would enter professional football ranks next year. Yesterday, however, he was reported as saying that "I'm all set to play if the pay is right."

Church B Loop Opens Season

Mayflower Rips South Main in Thrilling Tilt.

Cage representatives of First Lutheran, Mayflower, Park Avenue Baptist and First Presbyterian registered the victories in the opening night of play in the Class B Church league at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Allowing only two free throws in the first half, the Lutherans coasted on the 15 to 2 lead it held going into the third period. The most interesting game on the card found the Mayflower five edging South Main, 21 to 20. The game was nip-and-tuck all the way.

First Christian staged a rally which netted 15 points in the fourth period, but it was forced to bow to the Baptists, 29 to 26. Christian obtained only three points in the first half. Scoring 15 points in the third period, Presbyterian won over Central M. E., 27 to 11.

Church Quintets Tangle Tonight

A first-class basketball program is promised followers of Church Class A league play at the Y. M. C. A. tonight.

The first game on tonight's bill sends the defending champion First Lutheran club against Temple Emanual. First M. E. and St. John tangle in the second game, which will be followed by a meeting between Mayflower and Park Avenue Baptist.

The final game features a battle between the Central M. E. and Episcopal clubs.

Plan to Select Undisputed Champ

COLUMBUS — (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic association's plan to select America's first undisputed college basketball champion advanced a step today as H. G. Olsen, Ohio State university's cage coach, named eight district committees which will select one entrant each for the post-season title series. Dates and sites for the games have not been determined.

PATTY BERG VOTED NO. 1 WOMAN ATHLETE

NEW YORK —(AP)— Freckled-faced Patty Berg is the overwhelming choice of the nation's sports experts as the No. 1 woman athlete of 1938. Forty-five of the 67 sports critics who participated in the eighth annual Associated Press poll selected Miss Berg as their first choice on the basis of a sensational golf campaign that led the young Minneapolis girl to the national championship.

JACK LIPSCOMB

One of the most powerful light-heavyweights in the mid-west is Jack Lipscomb of Indianapolis. He makes his first start here Friday night when he meets Whitey Wahlberg of Duluth, Minn., in one of two wrestling matches carded for decision in the Armory.

Top battle of the Friday card puts Everett 'Silent" Rattan into action with Walter Stratton of Letonia. Both matches, however, are carded for the same distance—two out of three falls, with a time limit of one hour.

OBERLIN — (UP) — Oberlin college will meet the University of Chicago in a football game Nov. 18, 1939, in Chicago.

Madison Upsets Crestline, 31-17

Rams, Led by Joe Miller, Hand Onodagos 1st Defeat of New Season.

MADISON high school's Rams pulled one of the major upsets of the young basketball season over in Crestline last night when they toppled Coach Merle Hutson's heretofore undefeated Onodagos, 31 to 17.

Crestline, which holds victories over two class A foes, Bucyrus and Norwalk, found the Rams too tough last night and never was a dangerous threat in the ball game.

Alert on Defense.

The Crestline cagers were limited to three buckets in the first half by the alert Madison defense while it rung up 16 points. The Onodagos fared little better in the final period when they obtained only four baskets.

Madison leaped into a 10 to 2 lead in the first period and it added to its advantage as the game progressed. At the intermission, the Rams were in front by a 16 to 7 margin.

Coach Al Fendrick's basketeers, whose only defeat was administered by Loudonville, went into the fourth frame holding a 23 to 10 advantage. The victory was the third of the season for the Rams.

Joe Miller was the chief cog in the Madison scoring machine last night with six baskets. The Wilkins twins, Bob and Bill, scored eight and six points, respectively.

Score All But Four.

Fletcher and Ganni accounted for all but four of the Crestline points, the former setting the pace with three buckets and a pair of free throws.

Crestline took the preliminary game, 14 to 12.

Plymouth Ace Leads Scorers

Ellison, With 52 Points, High in County.

Leroy Ellison of Plymouth, who has tallied 21 baskets and 10 free throws in four games, leads the individual high school scorers in Richland county with 52 points.

Wendall Ward of Butler is in second place with 37 points and Tolles of Union follows with 32.

Victorious in four straight games, Plymouth, in addition to boasting of the individual leader, paces the team scoring with 137 points. Union is second with 102.

Plymouth, Butler and Bellville are the only undefeated clubs in the county.

COURSE ENDS

Medical Association to Hold Final Lecture Tomorrow.

Two Cleveland physicians will speak at the eighth and final session of the Ohio State Medical association's postgraduate lecture course at 7 p. m. Thursday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

The session will deal with arthritis and its treatment, with Dr. Russell L. Haden scheduled to lecture on "Medical Aspects," and Dr. J. L. Kendrick on "Orthopedic Aspects."

Started last September, the lectures have been conducted here semi-monthly and have brought approximately 150 physicians from 13 counties to the city for the meetings.

SOLONS WRANGLE

Council Can't Decide on Type of Fire Truck They Want.

FREMONT, O. — (NS) — The nearby village of Clyde is still without a fire truck because members of the city council are unable to agree on what make to buy. The deadlock started several weeks ago when one member refused to agree to the purchase until a particular product had been inspected. The dispute grew until nearly every member had a fire truck he wanted the others to consider.

YOUTH NAMED IN $15,000 SUIT

Shelby Man Says Defendant Forced Car Into Ditch to Avoid Collision.

George Seaton, Shelby, today had filed a suit in common pleas court for $15,254 damages, naming Thomas D. Hudson, a miror, of R. D. 3, Mansfield, as defendant.

Seaton contends Hudson drove an automobile in front of a car in which he was riding at an intersection in Springfield township last July 29, forcing the machine into a ditch and seriously injuring Seaton.

Seaton contends Hudson was driving on the wrong side of the road and neglected to take necessary precautions when he approached the intersection.

The plaintiff's injuries, his petition states, included a fractured vertebra, brain concussion, and injuries to his chest and right arm. As a result of the accident, he was in the Shelby hospital for six weeks, his petition says.

In another common pleas court suit, John Arron, Mansfield, seeks $130 for damages to his automobile when it was struck by a car owned by Ruth Ruffo, of Lima, who was named defendant in the action.

Arron's car was parked on Bowman street when it was hit by the other automobile last Oct. 7, his petition states.

STILL ARRIVING

Personal Tax Payments Exceed $176,000.

With late payments still arriving by mail, Richland county's personal tax receipts for the last half of the year totaled more than $176,000 today, or only $12,000 under the charge for the half-year period.

The collection was described as "good" by attaches of the treasurer's office who forecast that the receipts probably would approach 100 per cent of the charge when payments are totaled. The period for payment without penalty closed Saturday.

Included in the collection was $127,569 in general personal taxes and $48,494 in classified tax

G. A. R. Vet Still Active, Observes 94th Anniversary

Birthday anniversary 94 arrived today for George H. Fisher, one of Mansfield's few surviving Civil war veterans, and commander of McLaughlin post of the Grand Army of the Republic for the last two years.

Mr. Fisher celebrated the anniversary quietly at his home at 45 Willow street, today. He and Mrs. Fisher have made their home in this city for the past 10 years with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Nichols.

Mr. and Mrs Fisher came to Mansfield from Danville, Ill., where Mr. Fisher once served as county auditor. He was born in Dana, Ind., on Dec. 14, 1844.

Despite his advanced age, Mr. Fisher is still active, writes letters and "signs his own checks," his wife reports.

Dizzy Drama.

Barbara Stanwyck as a Park avenue debutante, and Henry Fonda in a romantic role, are the stellar attractions of "The Mad Miss Manton" which opens tomorrow at the Ohio. The story is one of murder and excitement against a swank background. When police disbelieve the prank-playing Miss Stanwyck and her friends, she, fortified by a bevy of feminine lovelies, sets out to solve the mystery.

* * *

Married Romance.

Bob Hope and Shirley Ross as a pair of newlyweds fall into one trying situation after another in the romantic comedy, "Thanks for the Memory" which is opening tomorrow at the Madison. As a young husband with ambitions to write, Hope meets many rebuffs, and curtailments, until finally he deserts his wife, writes his novel, and then returns for the happy fadeout.

* * *

Aspire to Theater.

As the wife of a small town garage owner, Kay Francis is cast in the role of a young woman who has theatrical aspirations. In an argument over his wife, John Litel, the husband, kills a visiting actor. She, fully realizing her part in the tragedy, goes away to become a great actress, returning later to meet the final test. This picture is showing with the Jones Family in "Down on the Farm" at the Majestic.

* * *

Singing Cowboy.

Smith Ballew, the singing cowboy, is co-starred with Lou Gehrig, baseball hero, in "Rawhide," which is now showing with "Test Pilot" at the new Ritz. Clark Gable, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy are the stars of the drama of the air. The story is that of a whirlwind marriage, and a conceited pilot who wins a trophy race and gives half the purse to his opponent's widow.

* * *

On Dictators.

"Fight for Peace" is the title of the unusual film opening tomorrow at the Park for a three-day run. It is a narrated account showing photographs of Mussolini, Hitler and the war in China and predicting what dictatorships will lead to. The other feature is "What Price Vengeance?" with Lyle Talbot.

STOP THINK ABOUT SAFETY BEFORE-NOT AFTER YOU BUY A LOW PRICED CAR
WE BLEW A FRONT TIRE AND TUBE AT 60!
But, in a public test, the new Hudson 112 stayed straight on its course—safely (without using special tires, tubes or equipment)!
Why? Thanks to AUTO-POISE CONTROL—a revolutionary mechanical safety invention that keeps wheels on their true course automatically—on rough roads, in heavy side winds, even when a tire blows. NO OTHER CAR HAS ANYTHING LIKE IT. Auto-Poise is standard, at no extra cost, on the new Hudson 112—one of America's lowest priced cars.
WE DISCONNECTED HYDRAULICS AT 40!
In the same public test, hydraulic brakes were suddenly disconnected, but the driver just pushed the same foot pedal and the new Hudson 112 STOPPED—safely!
Why? Thanks to Hudson's exclusive DOUBLE-SAFE BRAKES—two braking systems (finest Bendix Hydraulics and a mechanical reserve system) working automatically from the same foot pedal. Many letters in our files tell of lives saved by Double-Safe Brakes—in all 1939 Hudsons.

RALLY CARRIED INTO OPENING TRADING HALTED

Year-End Railroad Buying of Equipment Brightens Business Prospects.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—A rally in the stock market encountered obstacles today after carrying over into opening dealings from the preceding session.

Holding part of initial gains were Cerro de Pasco, Santa Fe, Union Carbide, Johns Manville, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, du Pont and Anaconda.

Most bonds continued to move ahead in a slow recovery. Major commodities held in a restricted course.

Year-end railroad buying of rails, while modest in scope, brightened business prospects in one of its most depressed sectors.

The "Iron Age" said steel companies were confident the industry's operating schedules would be pointing upward again by mid-January at the latest, aided by the railroad orders, increasing releases for construction projects and continuance of "generous consumption" by the automobile industry.

A sizeable week-to-week gain in electric power consumption was reported by the Edison Electric institute.

Expansion in rubber manufacturing was indicated in November statistics.

uberance. Scotland yard said no special precautions were taken.

British officials did not comment immediately, but unofficially there was speculation over a new coolness between Britain and Germany.

Some saw lessening chances for the success of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, reichsbank president, who arrives today on a financial-trade mission. There was speculation, too, whether the Germans might be further disinclined to cooperate in the speeding of German Jewish emigration.

A majority of British newspapers backed Chamberlain, who declared he was determined to continue with his policy of European appeasement, warned against aggression and declared the nation was ready to defend her empire and allies, particularly France of whom he said:

"Our relations with France are so close as to pass beyond mere legal obligations since they are founded on an identity of interest."

Berlin Hears Memel Annexation Due Soon.

BERLIN —(AP)— Berlin diplomatic quarters expressed the belief today that annexation of Memel territory by Adolf Hitler's greater Germany was but a matter of weeks.

Events were believed moving at such a fast pace that Hitler might be able to call the reichstag together Jan. 30—the sixth anniversary of his rise to power—to welcome 150,000 Memel Germans into the Fatherland.

Diplomatic quarters felt that conditions had ripened within the 1,099 square miles of territory which Lithuania took from Germany after the World war for a decisive step late in January when the newly chosen Memel Diet (parliament) meets.

Vatican Fears New Nazi Restrictions.

VATICAN CITY —(AP)— Vatican authorities fear the Germany is soon to enact a series of laws imposing restrictions of unprecedented severity on Roman Catholic church activities, it was said today in reliable quarters.

Vatican fears are based largely on newspaper and other unofficial reports. There has been no official information.

Church authorities appeared to take a grave view of the situation, however, and according to informants they would not be surprised if the Reichstag passed the reported laws at any time. The Reichstag is due to meet Jan. 30, 1939 on the sixth anniversary of Adolf Hitler's rise to power.

Atty. John C. Catlett Locates in Richland Trust Building.

John C. Catlett, formerly of Wellsville, today announced the opening of his law offices at 605 Richland Trust building.

Catlett was graduated from Ohio State university in June and was admitted to the Ohio Bar association in August. He was second in rank among Ohio State graduates and fifth among the 446 new attorneys to take the Ohio bar examinations.

Catlett is a member of the Delta Theta Phi, legal fraternity, Delta Sigma Rho and the National Honorary Forsenic society.

DELAY REPORT

TVA Probers Won't Be Ready For Congress Opening.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Members of the TVA investigating committee said today they had abandoned hope of having a complete report ready for congress next month.

Instead, it was learned, public hearings will continue until Dec. 21. Then the committee will compile a partial report and let congress decide whether to provide more funds to complete the inquiry.

'BIG TIME' ACT AT YULE DANCE

Ray and Trent, Ace Acrobats, to Do Stuff Monday Night for Muster-Cheers.

theater where the trio was playing and enjoyed it so much that he asked to have the act repeated for him.

Between seasons and between engagements Ray always returned to Mansfield and worked daily on new stunts at the Y. M. C. A. gym. It was there that Trent first saw him and a casual friendship developed into a partnership. But after a short time both went out with different acts and only three years ago did they form their present association and act.

Since then they have played every big theater in all of the big cities of the east and middle west. Occasionally Mansfielders who recognize them come back stage to greet them.

* * *

An interesting coincidence when they appeared at the Paramount theater in New York City last spring on the same bill with the Fred Waring band, was that another Mansfielder was making her first bow to New York audiences. It was Jane Wilson of the Waring show, who will return to her home city over the week-end and who also has a stellar spot on the Christmas show Monday night.

EVENT—The Christmas ball and midnight show.
DATE—Monday, Dec. 19.
PLACE—Coliseum.
TIME—Dancing from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.
FLOOR SHOW — Dancing will be interrupted at 11 p. m. for the all-star floor show. One performance only.
PURPOSE — To raise funds for Christmas baskets for the city's unfortunate families.

Ray and Trent spend hours every day working on their act when they are in Mansfield. One of their breath-taking stunts was practiced for hours every day for a year before they would trust themselves to do it in public. It's one of the stunts in which a miss may mean a broken neck. Another dangerous feat has been done in public 1,500 times with only five misses.

* * *

"The technique of our kind of work has changed tremendously in 25 years," Ray said. "When we started the tendency was to look and act as much like an acrobat as possible, with a fine display of muscles encased in tights. But now we avoid all appearance of acrobats in our act. We work in our street clothes and we spend hours trying to make the most difficult feat look easy."

Cleveland is the only Ohio city in which they have appeared since they formed the new partnership three years ago and their appearance at the Christmas show will be Mansfield's first opportunity to see their act.

FIREMEN BUSY

Answer 4 Calls But Damage's Slight in Each Case.

City firemen answered four calls within the last 24 hours but damage in each case was slight. Three of the fires were the result of sparks from chimneys and the fourth an autmobile.

Companies Nos. 1 and 2 were called to the home of Virgil Hageman, 151 Harker street, shortly after noon yesterday to extinguish a roof blaze. Three hours later company No. 1 went to the home of William Williams, Lewis avenue, when a short in the wiring of his car set the machine on fire.

At 6:30 p. m. company No. 3 was called to 161 Cleveland avenue by M. J. Sherman when the roof of his home caught fire from chimney sparks.

Companies Nos. 1 and 2 extinguished a fire at the home of Carl Clark, rear of 161 West Sixth street, at 7:30 a. m. today before any serious damage resulted, they said. The fire started from a defective stove pipe.

rush began, private employment was reported on the rise in Youngstown, Massillon, Canton, Warren, Mt. Vernon, Washington C. H., Alliance, Lancaster, Zanesville and East Liverpool.

Cleveland and Steubenville reported that increased steel production had restored jobs to several thousands, but that Christmas trade lagged because steel company employes were paying off debts rather than purchasing new merchandise.

Relief roll decreases were reported in Massillon, Marietta, Tiffin, Alliance, Canton, Zanesville and East Liverpool.

URGES CHECK OF PLUMBING

Waterworks Head Says Boost in Pressure in Woodland to Disrupt Old Equipment.

With increased water pressure in southwestern Mansfield resulting from the $75,000 Woodland improvement which was linked with the distribution system yesterday, residents south of Cline avenue were urged today to have their plumbing equipment inspected.

James Herlihy, superintendent of the waterworks, said that the increased water pressure in the Woodland district would tend to cause booster equipment in homes in that vicinity to function improperly.

He urged all persons with such equipment to have a licensed plumber inspect the plumbing in the home, particularly the booster pumps which are equipped with check valves as required by ordinance.

"In view of the discontinuing of booster equipment in many of the homes because of the higher pressure, it would be well as a matter of safety to have the plumbing thoroughly inspected," Herlihy said.

He pointed out that the check valve equipment which is installed in connection with the installation of booster pumps would not operate properly under the increased pressure and might cause damage to the plumbing.

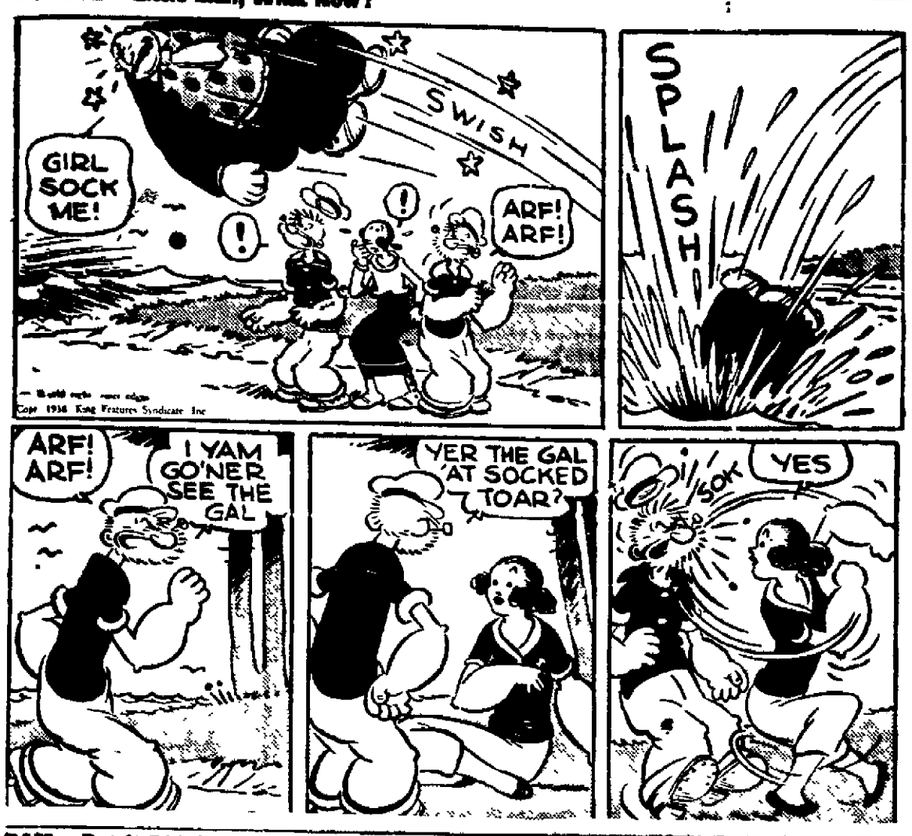
POPEYE—Little Man, What Now?



PAM—But It Didn't Work! By A. W. Brewerton

PAM HAS BEEN TELLING PAUL OF HER EXPERIENCE WITH RAWSON, THE G-MAN,
I WAS QUITE ALARMED UNTIL I FOUND OUT HE WAS AN F.B.I MAN!
BUT, PAM, THEY MUST THINK IT'S PRETTY SERIOUS (F---
--- THEY'D GO TO THAT EXTENT, DON'T YOU THINK?
OH—NOT SO SERIOUS—MR. PARKER RATHER MADE LIGHT OF THAT PHONE CALL —SAID HE JUST WANTED TO PLAY MORE THAN SAFE, HOWEVER!—IT ISN'T EVERY GIRL CAN HAVE A G-MAN BODYGUARD —IS IT?
MEAN-WHILE, DOWN IN THE STREET BEFORE PAM'S APART-MENT BUILDING, THINGS HAVE BEEN GOING ON! —HERE'S RAWSON, HE'S STAYING IN HIS CAB—MUST HAVE SEEN ME!—I—THINK I'LL JUST GET A GOOD LOOK AT THAT BIRD—HE ALREADY KNOWS I'M WATCHING HIM, ANYHOW!—I'LL STROLL UP BY HIS CAR——CAN'T GET IT OUT MY HEAD I'VE SEEN HIM BEFORE!—SOME-WHERE—SOME-TIME!
EXCUSE ME! GOT A MATCH, STRANGER?
THE MAN IN THE TAXI IS COM-PLETELY TAKEN BY SURPRISE!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Point and Counter-Point. By Harold Gray

POOR, BRAVE OLD SANDY—JUST A MONGREL—BUT WITH THE UNSELFISHNESS DEVOTION THAT MOLDS LIFE OF HIS ONLY TO BE GIVEN FOR HIS ANNIE—MONGREL? YES! BUT THE BLOOD AND FIGHTING HERITAGE OF MANY BREEDS—IN HIS POOR, DAZED BRAIN THE VOICES OF LONG-DEAD CHAMPIONS ARE CALLING—MASTIFF AND WOLF DOGS—SHEPHERDS AND STIFF-HAIRED MINGRELS OF OLD SKIN!
12-14-38
LET THE GREAT HULKING MURDERER COME ON! SO IT'S DEATH, EH? WELL, LET IT BE A DEATH MET GLORIOUSLY—SIDE-STEP AND SLASH!—BUT THE FOREMOST TEETH OF THE HOUND SLASH TOO—
ONE LEG USELESS—— DAMN! HELPLESS! THE END IS COMING NOW—BUT WITH DYING BREATH I'LL FIGHT FOR SANDY!—GIVE A PRAYER TO DIE TRIFLING THE PET BLOOD FROM THIS MONSTERS THROAT!
HAROLD GRAY

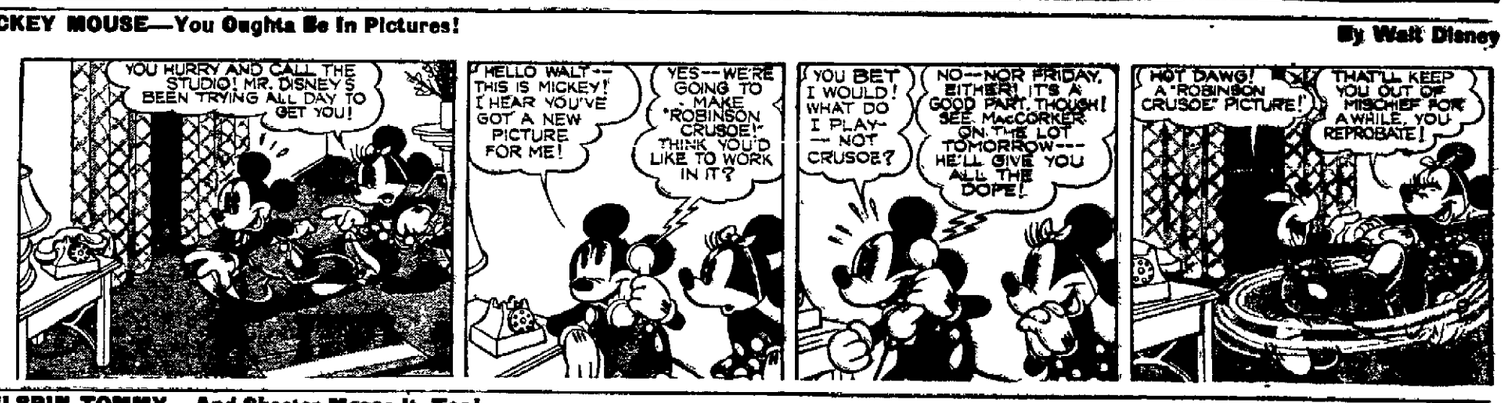
THANK YOU, MY FRIEND—AS SOON AS I CAN BRING IT ABOUT, YOU SHALL GO FREE!
AND NOW TO GET DOWN AND OUT OF HERE, WITHOUT GETTING CAUGHT!
HE'S WAVING "GOOD LUCK" TO ME—AND WILL I NEED IT!
THAT YOU WILL, INDEED! GRAB HIM, QUICKLY!

MICKEY MOUSE—You Oughta Be in Pictures! By Walt Disney

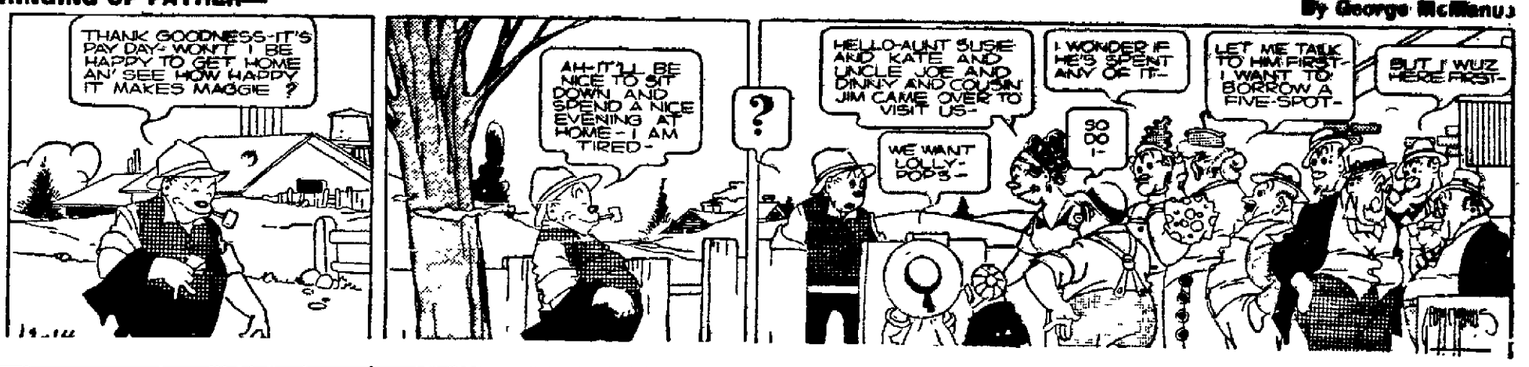


YOU HURRY AND CALL THE STUDIO! MR. DISNEY'S BEEN TRYING ALL DAY TO GET YOU!
HELLO WALT—THIS IS MICKEY! I HEAR YOU'VE GOT A NEW PICTURE FOR ME!
YES—WE'RE GOING TO MAKE "ROBINSON CRUSOE!" THINK YOU'D LIKE TO WORK IN IT?
YOU BET I WOULD! WHAT DO I PLAY—NOT CRUSOE?
NO—NOR FRIDAY, EITHER! IT'S A GOOD PART, THOUGH! SEE MACGORKER ON THE LOT TOMORROW—HE'LL GIVE YOU ALL THE DOPE!
HOT DAWG! A "ROBINSON CRUSOE" PICTURE!
THAT'LL KEEP YOU OUT OF MISCHIEF FOR A WHILE, YOU REPROBATE!

TAILSPIN TOMMY—And Skeeter Means It, Too! By Hal Forrest

SKEETER, BETTY-LOU, HANK AND JERRY, IN THE AMPHIBIAN, WERE ATTACKED BY THE BLACK PIRATE PLANE
BUT, SKEETS, MANAGED, BY A LUCKY SHOT, TO CRIPPLE THE ENEMY SHIP
THE PIRATE PARACHUTED INTO THE SEA, AND WAS PICKED UP BY OUR FRIENDS, WHO DEMAND THAT HE DIVULGE THE HIDEOUT OF HIS GANG
MEANWHILE, LET US RETURN TO TOMMY, A CAPTIVE OF THE PIRATES
WHO IS THIS INTERLOPER, HARDTACK?
A SNOOPER, CAP'N! I FOUND 'IM NEAR TH' HANGAR!
IF I'D KNOWN THIS WAS TO BE A MASQUERADE PARTY I'D HAVE COME IN COSTUME!
NO NEED FOR THAT, YOUNG MAN! WE HAVE ONE HERE FOR YOU A NICE, WOODEN BOX!
TAKE THIS LONE EAGLE OUT BEHIND THE BANYAN TREE... AND LIQUIDATE HIM!

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus



THANK GOODNESS—IT'S PAY DAY—WON'T I BE HAPPY TO GET HOME AN' SEE HOW HAPPY IT MAKES MAGGIE?
AH—IT'LL BE NICE TO SIT DOWN AND SPEND A NICE EVENING AT HOME—I AM TIRED—
HELLO—AUNT SUSIE AND KATE AND UNCLE JOE AND DINNY AND COUSIN JIM CAME OVER TO VISIT US—
I WONDER IF HE'S SPENT ANY OF IT—
LET ME TALK TO HIM FIRST—I WANT TO BORROW A FIVE-SPOT—
BUT I WUZ HERE FIRST—
WE WANT LOLLY-POPS—
SO DO I—

Pan-American Delegates Study Plan to Bind Republics to Lower Trade Barriers.

American republics in the event that the safety, the sovereignty or the institutions of any American nation were threatened by outside force.

From the United States viewpoint the principal omission from the Argentine draft was a proposal for regular consultation among foreign ministers of American republics. Instead, Argentina proposes special consultations under existing peace machinery.

United States delegates have been withholding their draft declaration pending the submission of a Brazilian draft which goes even farther then the Argentine one.

The United States delegates thought it wise to see if the Argentine and Brazilian views might be brought together.

It was believed possible that the Argentine draft, which some delegations already have accepted, might be presented to the conference steering committee at its meeting tomorrow.

Secretary Hull, in a broadcast speech last night, expressed his gratification at the spirit of unity and co-operation in the conference.

WOULD DOUBLE LOANS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Doubling the lending power of the Export-Import bank, it was learned today, will be the first step in the Roosevelt administration's new program to expand trade between the United States and Latin America.

After doing business for nearly five years with its original $21,000,000 capital, which automatically limited its lending to that amount, the government-owned bank is ready to sell about $25,000,000 more stock to the Recon-Struction Finance corporation.

The RFC furnished the original capital. It is committed to buy the new stock and only formalities remain to be completed.

Wittenberg Picks Mansfielder As Most Popular Man

George Keyser, Park avenue west road, a senior at Wittenerg college, Springfield, is the most popular man student on the Wittenerg campus

Keyser, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ober, was chosen in a popularity contest conducted by the Wittenberg Torch, campus news weekly. He was rated ahead of Tom Rankin of Springfield, footall and basketball star, and Dave Albright of Akron, basketball star, debater, and high point student. The Mansfield student is a member of Beta Theta Pi, national social fraternity, and a number of honorary societies on the campus. He was graduated from Mansfield High school in 1935.

Miss Marie Wurtenerger of Ft Wayne, Ind., was voted the most popular woman on the campus. Miss Wurtenberger was homecoming queen in October

JANITOR QUITS CITY HALL POST

Resigns When Confronted by Charges He Let Prisoners Escape From Custody.

Confronted with charges of neglect of duty, Rev. M. L. Gordon, colored custodian at the city building, today tendered his resignation to Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist.

The charges were preferred by Nist who said that the former janitor "on numerous occasions" had absented himself from duty without permission and had, on several occasions, permitted prisoners who were in his custody doing janitor work to escape. Nist also charged that he had failed to properly perform other duties such as keeping clean the premises assigned to him.

Police department records show that at least three city jail prisoners had left his custody within the past two years.

The records showed that on March 8, 1937, one prisoner walked away while doing janitor work for Gordon, and on Jan. 3, of this year another escaped. Both were serving short sentences for intoxication.

The latest escape was on Oct. 24, when a prisoner serving a 10-day sentence for panhandling walked away while working in the building.

Gordon was appointed by former Mayor Earl A. McFarland in January, 1936, and later was approved by the civil service commission after examination.

Nist said today that he had called for certifications from the commission's eligible list of janitors from which to make a replacement.

GIANT LOST IN CITY

CAPETOWN —(U.P.)— Seventy-six-year-old Paul van der Merwe, of Kimberley, was found in a suburb of Capetown after having been missing for four days. He should have been easy to find—he is 6 feet 9 inches in height.

And Was the Driver Surprised?

Imagine the surprise the owner of this automobile received when he returned from a restaurant in New York to find his auto, which he had parked but an hour before, in this condition. Another auto struck a fire hydrant in Flushing, breaking it at the base. The resultant flood undermined the street, plunging the parked automobile into this flooded hole.

"The old boy has slipped his trolley"

● MR. SIMMONS WAS STEAMING ALONG under his own power when he finally showed up late that cold, frosty morning. He's a regular customer of mine—a swell guy—but this morning it seems he's got the pip. "Here, Red," he puffs, reaching for a newspaper and fumbling with the change. "Dang that dang car of mine. Gah! Of all mornings to be late!"

● I SCRATCH my head; then I catch on. He's had a touch of starting trouble, and right away I think of Standard Oil's Guaranteed Starting. So that night . . .

● "IF YOU DON'T mind, Mr. Simmons;" I say as I slip him his evening paper, "give a glance at the SOHIO ad!" "Okay, Red," he says. "It must be good if you recommend it." "Well," I counter, "it's free when you get your regular winter change-over at Standard Oil."

● NEXT MORNING he strides up and tosses my whole bunch of papers in the air! Creeping crickets, I think, the old boy has slipped his trolley! "Red," he shouts, "you're smart! I read that SOHIO ad, and got Guaranteed Starting. They guarantee my car will start all winter long—or they pay the bill." "But my papers," I groan. "Forget 'em son," he says. "You're starting to work in my office—today!"

NAZI SLAP AT CHAMBERLAIN STIRS BRITAIN

'Vacant Chair' Rebuke at Banquet Leads to Demand for Explanation.

LEAVE 50 SEATS EMPTY

But Premier Goes on to Warn 'Dictator States'; Diners Cheer His Speech.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — The Nazi "vacant chair" rebuke to Premier Chamberlain for criticism of the German press headed for house of commons debate today, amid speculation whether a positive barrier was developing to full peace understanding between the two countries.

The labor party drafted a question to the house for explanation today of the absence of the German ambassador and Nazi press representatives from the Foreign Press association dinner at which Chamberlain spoke last night.

Lengthy Debate Seen.

This likely will be followed by lengthy review of British-German relations during full dress foreign affairs debate on Monday, before the Christmas recess.

Political quarters saw in the absence of the Germans a sign of official Nazi displeasure with the British prime minister, since they presumably acted on orders from Berlin.

The Germans declined invitations to the important dinner attended by ambassadors of Belgium, Brazil, France, Poland, the Soviet Union and Italy, after reading advance copies of Chamberlain's speech.

It criticized a German press reference to former Premier Baldwin as a "guttersnipe" and cautiously warned aggressors that "attempts at domination are never long successful."

The declinations came so late that time did not permit rearrangement of tables to close the gaps. There were nearly 50 German newspapers and embassy absentees.

Bang on Tables.

Many at the dinner banged tabletops with their fists and there was loud and long applause for Chamberlain who did not alter his prepared text, except to refer to Germany and Italy as "dictator" states rather than "authoritarian."

The usual two police constables kept an eye on the German embassy this morning to watch for any sign of a popular demonstration, but a cold rain provided an even better curb for anti-Nazi ex-

DISCUSS SUIT

Attorney and Commissioners in Parley Over Contract.

County officials and Atty. J. H. Gongwer, representing the Purdy Construction company, Mansfield, conferred at the courthouse today on prospective court action over the $68,000 county PWA road paving project, but the matter apparently was at a stand-still following the conference.

Meanwhile, it was understood that the contract, awarded two days ago to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company had been forwarded to Washington for approval by PWA officials.

Commissioners said they were awaiting the filing of the injunction suit before they take further action. The suit had not been filed at noon today.

W. W. Purdy, head of the Purdy company, whose low bid was rejected because it quoted a figure on gravel instead of limestone, said yesterday he would file suit.

Pan-American Delegates Study Plan to Bind Republics to Lower Trade Barriers.

(By United Press)

LIMA, Peru — United States delegates are circulating in the eighth Pan-American conference a draft agreement which would bind all American republics to do all they can to lower tariff barriers, it was understood today.

It was intended, if the draft met with support, to submit it formally to the conference.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull believes that removal of restrictions against trade is one of the best remedies for the ills from which the world is suffering.

United States delegates have been so favorably impressed with the text of an Argentine draft declaration on continental solidarity against foreign attack that they may not even present a draft of their own, it was understood.

The Argentine proposal goes much farther than United States delegates had hoped would be possible. It was expected to provide for consultation among the 21

GETS SURPRISE IN PAPER BAG

Chicago Woman Looks for Groceries But Finds . . .

CHICAGO — (UNS)—A thoughful neighbor rang Mrs. Charles Kohout's front doorbell.

"There's a bag of groceries been sitting out here for some time. I was afraid it was something that might freeze," she said.

Just then the paper bag crackled and emitted a low wail.

The two startled women found a warmly bundled baby inside.

A note pinned to its blanket stated:

"Please take care of him. I had to do it. God bless him."

The child was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

Gene Autry, Kid Hero, to Be Star of 'Can Matinee'

Is there a kid in Mansfield who isn't kuh-razy about Gene Autry, the movie hero who handles his vocal chords and two guns with equal facility?

Gene's picture "Comin' Round the Mountain" will be the feature at the Ritz theater's "can matinee" Saturday morning, when a can of food will admit a boy or girl to the theater.

There will be two "can matinees" on Saturday at the same hour—the Ritz and the Park. Both will have attractive programs, with action features, comedies, cartoons and news reels.

Both theaters open at 9:30 and the shows begin promptly at 10 a. m. The admission price is a can of food—a big can of tomatoes, corn, beans, peas or fruit.

Immediately after the shows the canned goods will be taken to the Salvation Army hall where it will be sorted and arranged for distribution on Saturday, Dec. 24, to Mansfield's needy families.

C. OF C. SETS UP 15-POINT PLAN FOR '39

Platform Drafted by Directors Includes Move for Uniform Numbering of Homes.

PUSHES PARKING METERS

Pledge to Aid City Officials in Solving Relief Burden Third New Objective.

A 15-point platform with three new objectives was drafted last night by the board of directors of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce as the organization's 1939 program of work.

The program is based on the results of a recent survey in which the 600 members of the Chamber were asked what they considered the most important and most constructive community and organization objectives, Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager said.

3 New Objectives.

The three new objectives outlined by the board were:

1. Sponsor a movement to obtain the uniform numbering of all residences and business establishments in Mansfield to conform with the city ordinance.

2. Work for the installation of parking meters in downtown Mansfield, a movement already endorsed by the organization and to sponsor a traffic safety movement.

3. Pledge co-operation to city officials in an effort to solve the city's relief problem which faces financial paralysis after the first of January unless the incoming state legislature provides funds for its administration.

Continue Old Moves.

The 12 other objectives which are a continuation of past years programs include:

Continued efforts toward the rehabilitation of the municipal water system and development of the supply to meet future demands, along with "redoubled efforts" to gain improvements of railway passenger stations.

Seek a reduction of fire insurance rates by obtaining additional fire protection facilities and by conducting educational fire prevention campaigns.

The program also calls for the launching of a movement looking toward a reform in city and county government, which the directors explained would include a study of the feasibility of introducing the question of city manager form of government to the voters of Mansfield.

Two other objectives are a continuation of work towards efficiency and economy in city, state

ROME SURPRISED

Government Orders Gas Masks Distributed to Italians.

ROME—(UNS)—The Italian government today ordered landlords, industrialists and professional men to provide gas masks for members of their staffs before Dec. 31. This caused considerable surprise in Rome, because gas masks have been virtually unavailable in Italy heretofore to persons not connected with the army.

No reason for the Italian government's order regarding distribution of gas masks was given. Immediate speculation was aroused, however, over the possibility that it was issued as a precaution in view of the current Italo-French dispute regarding Tunisia, Corsica, Nice, Savoy and other French territories.

Gable-Lombard Marriage Near?

Clark Gable's announced intention to ask his wife, Mrs. Rhea Gable, to file suit for divorce, today appeared to be a step toward paving the way for the screen star's marriage to Actress Carole Lombard. The Gables have been separated under an agreement by which Gable was to pay his wife $300,000. He has already paid $286,000, his attorneys said, and the manner of making the final payments is to be determined by court order.

Screen's 'He-Man' Asks Wife to File for Divorce

Decree Sought by Gable to Pave Way for Marriage to Actress Carole Lombard, Hollywood Believes.

(By International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—The way was apparently paved today for Clark Gable, filmdom's No. 1 "he-man," to marry Carole Lombard, the blond and beautiful screen actress.

Gable admitted yesterday that he plans to ask his wife, Mrs Rhea Gable, from whom he has been separated for more than three years, to obtain a divorce.

And it has been no secret to Hollywood that Gable wants very much to marry Miss Lombard the moment he is legally free. He refused to comment on the marriage angle, however, when he made the divorce announcement.

Gave Wife $285,000.

It was assumed that Mrs Gable would go to Reno to ask for a divorce from her famous husband.

When the Gables separated, they entered into a property settlement agreement by which Gable was to pay his wife $300,000. He has already paid Mrs Gable about $286,000, and today attorneys for the couple will appear in court to settle differences between the two in regard to the manner in which the final payments are to be made.

Miss Lombard has been the constant and only object of Gable's affections for the past two and a half years.

PEACE MISSION?

Chinese Claim Japs Send High Army Officials With Plan.

SHANGHAI—(U.P.)—Chinese political sources said today that Japan's most famous military figure, Gen. Kenji Doihara, was approaching Chinese leaders with a plan for settlement of the war in China.

Doihara, a mysterious militarist with an almost legendary reputation as an undercover agent, brought instructions for a settlement, the Chinese asserted, but it was highly uncertain whether the Kuomintang (national government party) leaders would be interested.

AGED ASHLAND MAN KILLED AS AUTO UPSETS

William Stoops, 77, Fatally Injured Near Mifflin; Son, 53, Escapes.

CRASH FRACTURED NECK

Car Skids and Overturns Near County Line on Level Highway.

William Stoops, 77, of near Mifflin, was fatally injured when the car in which he was riding skidded and overturned one quarter of a mile west of Mifflin on U. S. route 30 at 6 p. m. yesterday. The accident occurred in Ashland county, near the Richland county line.

Mr. Stoops was riding in a car driven by his son, Charles E. Stoops, 53, also of near Mifflin. When the car overturned Stoops was crushed in the wreckage, and was dead when the car was righted by passing motorists and a state highway patrolman.

His death was the result of a fractured neck, Dr. George Emery, Ashland county coroner, said. Dr. Emery gave a verdict of accidental death.

On Level Stretch.

The men were traveling east, and were on a level stretch of highway when the accident happened, State Highway Patrolman C. W. Cale said. Charles Stoops suffered only a small cut on the right hand.

Neither Patrolman Cale nor the younger Stoop could advance any reason for the accident. However, members of the family advanced the theory that the brakes might have locked on the car, a large and heavy coupe, causing it to plunge off the road and turn over

Funeral Friday.

Mr. Stoops was born June 31, 1861, in Pennsylvania and spent most of his live in the vicinity of Mifflin. Surviving besides his son are a daughter, Mrs. C. C. Burns, of near Mifflin, a sister, Mrs. Sarah Flenner of Lucas, eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Friday at the Wappner funeral home, and burial will be in Zehner cemetery near Mifflin. The family asked that flowers be omitted.

LEBANON —(AP)— The Warren county grand jury, meeting in special session, indicted two men and two women today on charges of robbery and kidnaping in connection with the abducti last Thursday night of Corp. Parker W. Powell of the state highway patrol.

Witnesses during the one-hour session were Corp. Powell, Supt. Lynn Black, and Sergt. J. W. Ulmer of the state patrol and Sheriff William Hufford.

Soaring Yule Sales Cheer City Stores

Look for Holiday Volume To Exceed Last Year's By 5 Per Cent.

The tinkle of cash registers in Mansfield retail stores this week is playing a merry tune that indicates an increased Christmas business volume, topping that of last year, a survey revealed today.

Hundreds of extra clerks are on hand to accommodate Yule shoppers who are surging through the downtown stores in a buying rush that will hit its stride Friday and continue through next week, V. H. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, predicted.

Lodde said that a survey showed sales here placed Mansfield ahead of larger cities in the state where merchants do not expect the Christmas business to exceed the 1937 level.

He said Mansfield retail stores report a general increase of five per cent in their Yule business over last year and indications are that the volume increase would be boosted even higher during the final week.

Increased employment and higher payrolls, Lodde said, have provided the chief stimulant to Christmas trade in the past two weeks. Earlier, the unseasonable weather had kept the increase below that reported in 1937.

An increase in sales has boosted the volume dollar above the 1937 level but individual sales are lower than those of last year," Lodde said merchants reported.

In Mansfield as throughout the state in cities of comparable size, decreases in both WPA and direct relief rolls combined with steadily increasing private employment provide the most optimistic note.

However, in Akron, Cleveland and Cincinnati where improved employment were reported, merchants predicted that they would be "fortunate" if the total volume of the holiday trade equalled last year's.

They gave as the principal reasons, "too much rain and not enough cold."

In Lorain the Retail Merchants' association was one of the few in the state to predict that this year's business would surpass the 1937 figure.

Besides temporary jobs in nearly every Ohio city as the Christmas

Singer Marries Alderman in Midst of Ex-Mate's Trial.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —(U.P.)—Ruth Etting, famous blues singer, and Myrl Alderman, the boy friend whom her divorced husband recently shot, flew here today and were married.

In a surprise move, Miss Etting and Alderman left Los Angeles in the midst of the trial of her divorced husband, Martin (Colonel Moe, the Gimp) Snyder, charged with attempting to kidnap and murder Alderman.

While Snyder fidgeted outside a Los Angeles courtroom waiting to tell a jury why he shot Alderman, the couple sped to an airport, boarded a Paul Mantz plane and flew here.

The plane reached Las Vegas shortly before 8 a. m. fifteen minutes later Miss Etting and Alderman entered the Clark county courthouse.

LEAVES DEATH ROW FOR LIFE TERM IN PEN

Hold-Up Slayer's Sentence Commuted Because 3 Pals Got Off With Life.

'UNFAIR', GOVERNOR SAYS

Aids Equally Guilty But Were Saved From Chair, Executive Points Out.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Gov. Martin L. Davey today commutcd the death sentence of 22-year-old George Wells of Akron to life imprisonment. Wells had been scheduled to be electrocuted at Ohio penitentiary tonight

Wells was convicted in the hold-up slaying of William Pantages, Akron cafe owner.

Davey declared in a statement: "I have decided to commute the death sentence of George Wells to life imprisonment for the following reasons:

Three Got Life.

"Four young men were involved in this holdup murder. Three were given life sentences and Wells was condemned to die.

"According to the record there were two trigger men, the other of whom was given a life sentence. All four were potential murderers because all carried guns and were ready to use them if the occasion required.

"It seemed a little unfair that only one of the four should go to the electric chair when two were equally guilty and all four were of equal potential guilt.

"Furthermore the motivating force and the worse culprit was a much older man who planned the robberies and who directed the four youngsters in their brief career of crime in order to get his share of the money."

Wells asked the executive for a commutation to life imprisonment, basing his plea chiefly on the argument that his punishment should be no greater than that given three youths who took part in the robbery with him. They received life sentences.

But if he had to die, Wells said, "I am not afraid, because I know in my heart that I am right with God."

Hundreds Join In Christmas Carol Singing Friday

Mansfield's Christmas spirit will be given new impetus Friday night when hundreds of the city's singers join in the annual Christmas carol community sing in Central park.

Sponsored by the Mansfield Public Parks association and the Retail Merchants association, the program will start at 7:30 p. m. when Mayor Claude M. Hunter will express the city's greeting to the audience. The program will last an hour.

Charles Conklin will lead the singing, with the city's outstanding choral groups promising to form one of the largest choruses ever heard in Mansfield.

Participating in the program will be the Mansfield Liederkranz, Westinghouse Glee club, Jonathan Glee club, Newman Mothersingers, the junior high school chorus directed by Miss Fannie Lew Eiler, the choirs from a number of churches, and others.

Special features will include members by Eugene Smart s brass orchestra and vocal solos by Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman and Miss Jane Weuthrick.

Arrangements for the sing are in charge of a committee headed by Edward Wyllie.

'Big Time' Act to Be Yule Dance Feature

Made Hit With King of Sweden, Now Star on American Stage; They'll Do Stuff for Muster-Cheers.

It seems a little absurd to mention the Mansfield Y. M. C. A. and the King of Sweden in the same sentence, but somewhere between the two there lies a local-boy-makes-good story, with Ray "Peewee" Turner as the hero.

A parallel story which began on that same gym floor carried another Mansfield boy to a star "spot" at Radio City Music hall, the world's largest theater, with Turner. And that was Trentiss Barney.

And Ray and Trent, the best known and highest paid acrobatic duo in America—and that means the world, since European entertainers receive far less than American—will be a star act at the Muster Cheer Christmas ball and floor show at the Coliseum, Dec. 19.

The same act that played the Strand theater in New York three weeks ago on the same bill with Wayne Morris, movie star who made a personal appearance with his picture "Brother Rat," and with Johnny "Scat" Davis, and which opens at the Chicago theater a week from Friday, will be given at the Coliseum to help fill Christmas baskets for unfortunate families in Mansfield.

Ray is a native Mansfielder and Trent came to Mansfield with his mother, Mrs. Fanny Barney, when he was 17.

Ray began imitating the "benders" at the circuses when he was 9 years old, and was the wonder of his school mates because of his "limber back."

An old Mansfield photographer, Gale Brittson, who had formerly been with circuses, became interested in the boy's unusual ability and they worked up an act together. They worked during school vacations on small time vaudeville circuits, but when Ray was 17 he formed a new act and began to make the big-time circuits.

In 26 years he has played the big theaters of every big city in America and toured 11 foreign countries. A few years ago The News-Journal carried a story on how his act—he was with a man and a woman then—was being billed as the hit of one of the London theaters

MOSELEY HURLS FRESH CHARGES AT ROOSEVELT

Retired Army General Says Administration Gives Aid to Communists.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—Major General George Van Horn Moseley renewed his attack on the Roosevelt administration today by charging that the United States greatest defense weakness was in Washington where the New Deal "gives aid and comfort" to Communists.

On Sept. 30, the occasion of his retirement from the army after 43 years active service, he attacked the "indigestible mass of untried theories," spoke of "decay within" and charged that some New Deal policies, particularly those on relief, imperiled the nation. Secretary of War Woodring, replying accused him of disloyalty to President Roosevelt "his commander-in-chief," and said he was "piqued" because he had not been appointed chief of staff.

'Mind Own Business.'

Today General Moseley, one of the four officers who have received the distinguished service medal twice, urged the country to "mind its own business in regard to the internal affairs of Europe and Asia. He said that it should "lick the Communists" before it worries about other lands.

He said propaganda for huge military expenditures was "a crime" and charged that it was being used "for the political purpose of finding justification for enormous expenditures under the guise of national defense."

Gen. Moseley gave his views in an address prepared for delivery at noon at the annual meeting of the New York board of trade. His last army post was the command of the Fourth Corps area and the Third army with headquarters in Atlanta.

He characterized Bernard Baruch's "alarming statements in reference to dangers in South America" as "perfectly absurd."

"If Mr. Baruch was speaking under orders from his chief in Washington for the purpose of drawing public attention away from the New Deal and the more abundant life, he did a fine job," he continued.

'NO CAUSE FOR FEAR.'

AKRON —(U.P.)— America need have no fear of a dictatorship or Communism, Harry P. Caton, chairman of the board of trustees of Ohio State university, told Ohio State grange members here last night at their 66th annual convention.

"I have no fear of a dictatorship in America," Caton said, "for two reasons.

"In the first place, the women of America are not like the other women of the world. They have equal rights and are not used to being dictated to. Secondly, our great schools and colleges serve to keep our people so enlightened they would not consent to a dictatorship.

"As for Communism, we need have no fear of that so long as our people are fed. Communism thrives on empty stomachs and downtrodden masses."

RITES FRIDAY

Harry 'Budd' Hubley Dies at Hospital in Bucyrus.

GALION—Harry "Budd" Hubley, 62, a well-known Galion resident, died Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the City hospital, Bucyrus. He had lived in both Galion and Bucyrus in recent years.

The body was brought to the Snyder funeral home where services will be held Friday. Other arrangements were being made today.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Herman Herbst of Pittsburgh, Pa., and a brother, Liff Hubley of Beaver Falls, Pa. His wife preceded him in death. A brother, Foster Hubley, who operated a confectionery store here for a number of years, also preceded him in death.

German Suspect Faces Prison on U. S. Charges.

CRISTOBAL, C. Z.—(INS)—Hans Heinrich Schackow was found guilty by a jury in the Cristobal federal district court today of obtaining information affecting the national defenses of the United States. Schackow was the first of four German spy suspects to be brought to trial.

DEFENSE OPENS IN GRALL TRIAL

Lorain County Judges Called as Ex-Sheriff Opens Bribe Case Fight.

ELYRIA —(U.P.)— Defense testimony in the bribery trial of William F. Grall, former Lorain county sheriff, opened here today after Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, of Mansfield, overruled two motions for directed verdicts of acquittal.

The motions were based on claims made by Grall's attorney, Henry George King, that the state had failed to prove specifications of the indictment, and that the former sheriff had been granted immunity when he testified before the grand jury last summer.

Witnesses called by King included Judge D. A. Cook and Guy B. Findley of the Lorain county common pleas court; Prosecutor Howard R. Butler and his assistant, William Wickens, Commissioner Oscar Dunn, Coroner S. C. Ward, Frank Maloy, editor of the Lorain Journal, and the Rev. Will Foster.

Rev. Foster was the foreman of the grand jury that investigated slot machines in the county and indicted several operators on charges of making a graft payment to Grall when he was sheriff.

Grall, who resigned under pressure, was accused of accepting $30 last June to permit Maxine Barbour, alias Penny Morgan, to operate a brothel near Lorain.

Shot Plows Into Home, Police Take 2 Youths' Rifles

Promiscuous shooting of firearms within the city today had cost two Mansfield youths their .22 caliber rifles.

Police took the guns yesterday after F. W. Bitinger, 377 Fourth avenue, reported that a bullet had plowed through the bathroom door of his home and was lodged in the wall.

Officers said they found the youths, one 17 and the other 18, near the home with their rifles. Both admitted discharging the guns.

Taken to the Bitinger home they promised to pay for the damage when Bitinger declined to file charges against them. They were released after being reprimanded by the officers.

GETS 6 MONTHS

Youth Sent to Workhouse on Delinquency Charge.

Willard E. Johnson, 23, of R. D. 3, Mansfield, was sentenced to six months in the Columbus workhouse today when he pleaded guilty before Judge C. J. Anderson in juvenile court to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old Mansfield girl.

A 15-year-old boy, arraigned on a charge of truancy from school, was paroled to an older brother who promised to take him out of the city.

The case of another boy, 14, held on the same charge, was continue while the court seeks a relative to be responsible for him.

The youths, who have been companions in minor offenses for the past two years, had been warned to stay apart on a previous appearance in court. They ran away from school twice leaving the state once, and on another occasion were accused of an attempt to break into a store.

$20-A-MONTH TOWNSHIP CLERK BLAMED IN $35,000 SHORTAGE

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ralph Purdy of Montpelier was only a $20-a-month township clerk but he got away with more than $35,000 in public funds through forgeries and embezzlements, according to a report filed today by State Examiner H. H. Hasting with the state inspection bureau.

Purdy entered Ohio penitentiary Dec. 10 to serve a sentence of three to 63 years. He pleaded guilty to 333 counts for embezzlement and 332 counts for forgery.

The report said that most of the funds were taken from Superior township, Williams county, and the Superior township rural school district over a period of four years and three months, ending last October when his peculations were discovered.

Purdy, his bondsman, the Maryland Casualty company and the National bank of Montpelier were held jointly liable for the money. The bonding company's total liability was $6,000. Purdy turned over a new automobile, a speed boat, his home in Montpelier and a cottage at James lake, Ind., to officials to help liquidate the claims against him.

In addition to his own peculations the report added, Purdy illegally hired two assistant clerks, which lead the examiner to comment "in order that he could be absent from the office more time to spend his illgotten gain."

The two assistant clerks were ordered to refund $1,078 paid them and Homer Pfaff of Toledo, who sold Purdy the speed boat, was ordered to refund $550. Radio salesmen also were directed to return $120 which Purdy had paid them.

The report said Purdy had cashed most of the forged checks in a Toledo gambling house.

JOB INSURANCE PAYMENT DELAY SEEN FOR OHIO

Untrained Personnel Threat to Getting State's Plan Operating in January.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Fear that prompt payment of unemployment insurance benefits in January might be hampered, if not delayed, by inadequate and untrained personnel was expressed today by members of the Ohio unemployment compensation commission.

Chairman Charles S. Leasure said the commission had hired only 69 of the approximately 1,850 additional employes which it hoped to have chosen by Dec. 15.

Asked when the personnel would be completed, he replied:

"That is now very speculative and very serious."

The commission should be prepared to receive claims Jan. 1, and expects 300,000 to pour in during the first month, Leasure added.

Lack of Funds Blamed.

Most of the employes must be appointed under civil service. Commission members said the state civil service commission was crippled by a lack of funds and had to await federal grants before it could set up the machinery for supplying personnel.

The commission is awaiting certified lists of applicants for claims examiners, employment service interviewers, accountants, traveling payroll auditors, claims referees, administrative assistants, typists and stenographers.

The situation finds 60 branch office managers leaving Columbus Friday to open offices without personnel to man them.

The number of experienced employes, serving provisionally, who will be replaced by inexperienced men and women was described as "alarming" by Carl Hopkins, assistant director of the commission.

Leasure said that approximately 95 per cent of the 650 employes now on the pay roll would be replaced, leaving but 5 per cent to train the newcomers.

The large percentage of replacements was attributed by Hopkins to applicants with military service. He explained that veterans who passed the civil service tests with a grade of at least 70 received an additional 20 per cent of their grade because of their military record.

Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of a New York supreme court justice, today was facing charges of smuggling feminine finery into the United States following an investigation by federal agents. Mrs. Lauer was expected to leave a sick bed and enter a plea to the charges in federal court in New York.

FRAUD CHARGED

U. S. Order Names Fidelity Investment Association.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Securities commission announced today it had filed a bill of complaint charging Fidelity Investment association, a company which it said had sold $600,000,000 in securities to the public, with fradulent practices.

The company is an investment loan association. It sells investment contract certificates and bonds calling for initial and monthly payments by investors.

The complaint, which was filed in Federal District court for the eastern district of Michigan, asked that the company be enjoined from selling securities in violation of federal and state laws.

The commission's bill of complaint said about 60,000 purchasers throughout the United States had sent and were continuing to send in their monthly payments regularly to the company through the mails.

"Enjoy My Meals First Time In Years and Thank Vendol"

Mansfield housewife says she relishes every bite, knowing there will be no gas, bloating, or sour acid risings afterwards. Advises all sufferers to try Vendol.

MRS. EDMUND FUCHS

"I've been suffering from stomach distress for years and have tried various remedies seeking relief, but Vendol has done more good than any of them," said Mrs. Edmund Fuchs, well known local housewife living at 21 Bentley St., to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store recently.

Constipation can be charged with all my troubles for the acidity and wastes in my digestive tract upset my digestion so that I couldn't eat a meal without knowing that the food would lay heavy in my stomach, ferment and form distressing gas sending pains and cramps through my abdomen. This gas often made me feel full and bloated, and the sour acid risings would come up in my throat.

"This upset stomach distress caused headaches that would last for days, and frequent bilious attacks, with a coated tongue, and bad taste in my mouth. Seemed I could never get a night of restful sleep and usually arose every morning feeling tired, with an aching in all my muscles.

"I had taken Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets a week before I knew that at last I had found the medicine that would really do the work and do it in a hurry. It acted so easily, yet thoroughly, to relieve my constipation, and then all my other troubles began to fade away. Soon I was really enjoying my meals for the first time in years and could eat things I had denied myself before, yet never have a sign of indigestion, gas or bloating. Headaches and bilious attacks don't bother me any more, have a clean taste in my mouth, and sleep the night through getting up in the mornings feeling rested and refreshed. I want to recommend Vendol to all my friends for it has certainly shown its worth to me."

Make up your mind now to begin enjoying better health. Visit the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., and let him courteously explain all about this splendid Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine and direct you how to take it to get the utmost benefits. See him today if possible.

THIRTY CITIES IN U. S. SLASH TRAFFIC TOLL

Ten Reduce Deaths by 40 Per Cent or More; Campaigns for Safety Credited.

(By Associated Press)

Intensive, methodical safety campaigns have slashed sharply into the nation's traffic death toll this year.

A survey of 35 leading cities—all but one of them among the top 40 in population—showed this situation for the first week of December.

Ten cut their death toll by 40 per cent or more, compared with the corresponding period of 1937.

At least ten of the other 25 reduced their traffic mortality rate 15 to 35 per cent, with many others showing improvements; and

Only five apparently headed for an increased fatality list.

The nation's population centers have accepted with the 'three E's" —enforcement, education and engineering—the challenge of the reckless driver, the jaywalking pedestrian.

The 69 per cent slash for Providence, R. I., where there were no fatalities for an 111-day stretch, placed it in the select list. Speeds there were reduced to 25 miles an hour throughout the city and enforced without exception Twelve persons have been killed to date this year, compared with 39 for the corresponding 1937 period

Columbus Among Leaders.

Columbus, O., among the leaders with 58.3 per cent less deaths than the like period last year, takes offenders to court immediately.

Other leaders, and their approximate percentage decreases in traffic deaths, included:

Cleveland 48.2, Birmingham, Ala., 48 1; Louisville, Ky., 47.2; Detroit, 45, Dallas, 41; Milwaukee and Buffalo 40. Newark, N. J., whereas in New York City figures were available only for the first ten months, showed a 60 per cent slash.

What are cities doing to reduce deaths?

Cleveland convicts 98 per cent of all persons brought into court for traffic violations, uses theaters, schools, radio and signs to warn "Fast drivers make slow processions." The city conducted a memorial service this month for its 1938 traffic dead.

St. Louis has developed a nonskid, anti-glare resurfacing mixture for dangerous intersections. In Pittsburgh an unpaid traffic planning committee, many of its 20 members prominent business leaders, works closely with police.

In Kansas City, one of the few cities where deaths may go above last year, drastic enforcement methods have been adopted.

Two cities, Memphis and Minneapolis, already have surpassed their entire 1937 toll and Atlanta and Portland, Ore., are close to the old figure Pedestrian carelessness was blamed for the jump in Memphis, which last year was designated by the national safety council as "the nation's safest city." Twenty-seven of this year's 42 victims were pedestrians, and the motorist was absolved in each case.

SEAL SALE HITS HALFWAY MARK

$1,500 Turned in to Date in City's Campaign to Fight Old Foe—T. B.

The Mansfield Christmas Seal sale passed the halfway mark today in the annual campaign for funds to fight tuberculosis.

George H Smith, city chairman, said that results of the campaign which is being handled entirely by mail this year, have been "gratifying" to date and that more than $1,500 of the city's quota of $3,000 already has been received.

"We believe that the public has shown better response to the sale of the health seals this year because it has a better knowledge of how the funds from the sale of the seals are being used," Smith added.

He pointed out that the funds made possible the detection of new cases in Richland county through the monthly diagnostic chest clinics and thereby prevented the spread of the disease.

Mansfielders who have received seals are urged to make payment at the Christmas seal headquarters at 76 East Fourth street before Christmas so the committee can close the campaign on that date, Smith said.

CHAPTER 22

Dr. Holgate turned—and his mouth dropped open in surprise.

"Hello," Peaches Pomeroy repeated. "We just happened to see you. Won't all of you pile in? We'll go for a spin somewhere."

The freshmen needed no further invitation. They instantly became a human octopus—legs and arms flailing everywhere in the scramble for the back seat. The front seat of the car was occupied by three girls, Peaches at the wheel. The other two, as beautifully dressed as Peaches, and almost as pretty, were laughing at the freshmen and being generally gay.

Dr Holgate made no reply. He was too astonished. He just stared at Peaches, highly confused.

"Get in, stupe!" she commanded, as if in exasperation, laughing. "We're not going to bit you. Get in the front; Barbara can sit on your lap. Get in!"

"Say!" began the talkative freshman, "this is swell! Say—"

* * *

It is an unusual case when a normal, wholesome, young American man can grow to age almost 29 and never once have had a girl sit on his lap. Thornton Holgate had been "in love" several times in high school, but had done nothing about it. A few times, in school assemblies, it had been necessary for him to pair off with some feminine person, and a very few times sufficient pressure had been brought to make him actually take a girl somewhere. But mostly he had been content to admire the opposite sex from afar. It had always seem presumptuous for a person as humble as he imagined himself to be, to force any girl to pay attention to him.

He grew out of that inferiority complex to a degree when he entered college. The Right Girl at that moment doubtless would have reshaped his entire life, but she did not come along. Before he realized it, college studies had gripped his enthusiasm, mathematics under truly learned men had opened magnificent mental vistas in which human equations had no part.

He beheld the sudden appearance of Peaches Pomeroy in her car this Sunday afternoon, heard her greeting and her command to get in, then passed into a momentary daze When he reawakened, a somewhat heavy but soft and thoroughly delightful something was implanted upon him. He was learning that its name was Barbara, that the similar something at his left shoulder was named 'Lisbeth. Both objects, besides being sweetly perfumed, were wiggly and giggly and highly articulate. And Miss Pomeroy's sedan was moving at something above 60.

"Yes, yes, quite so," Thornton was saying, solely because it seemed advisable to say something, after the deluge of greeting, introductions, small talk. The freshmen behind him, busy with their own chatter, paid little attention.

"I know—let's go to Galveston!" Peaches had suggested.

"YEA-A-A-A!" chorused the freshmen, in for anything. "Let's!" chimed in the girls. That's when Thornton had collected his wits and said, "Yes, yes, quite so."

* * *

Peaches swung right through Hermann park and headed for Telephone road, thence on eventually to the main pavement, which finally heads into the great Galveston causeway, a bridge over the sea arm which makes Galveston an island. Sheer fatigue eventually caused Thornton to relax, and the girl Barbara turned on his knees to talk to him.

"Am I too heavy? I've been gaining scads of weight lately. I'll bet you're smashed to bits."

"Not at all, not at all!" he lied He was disturbed by the fact that her eyes—very pretty eyes—were less than a foot from his.

Ditto her lips—very pretty lips Dr. Thornton Holgate, Ph.D, swallowed hard.

"Some of the road's bumpy, Thornton," Peaches called to him "You'll have to hold Babs tight But that's all right, she's not bashful If you get tired, make her hold you on her lap a while."

"Send her back here!" shrieked a freshman, and Dr. Holgate was grateful for that interruption. But nobody paid any attention to the freshmen. Freshmen are just—freshmen. Slimes. Necessary and tolerable, and cute enough sometimes, but still freshmen. These were senior girls

* * *

The distance from Houston to Galveston is 56 miles. Or was. In recent decades Houston has been eating up the distance steadily, spreading and growing and extending so that the actual mileage now is about 30. But from where pretty Barbara first plumped down on Thornton's lap, to the far end of the causeway, was a good 50.

Even though Barbara made it in less than 50 minutes, ignoring Sunday traffic and possible speed cops, and even though the upholstery of her car was the best that money could buy, Dr. Holgate was virtually paralyzed when they turned onto the beautiful Seawall drive. Barbara was, as she admitted, somewhat rounded; her weight stopped the circulation in Dr. Holgate's legs, causing rather severe pain. He bore this as if he were a martyr. It is doubtful if he would have mentioned the matter for a million dollars, in cash.

When they rolled past the pretentious Hotel Galvez and out onto the very top of the long sea wall which guards Galveston from the Gulf of Mexico, the view was instantly impressive.

"Beautiful! As always!" Barbara said it, and it was true.

"Oh, boy! Say—" Even the freshmen were awed momentarily. Waves were swelling out beyond the sands and the shallow water, then pouring in progressive white cascades—head-high breakers for which Galveston beach is famous. A few sails and the more bulky forms of freighters dotted the horizon—the harbor is around to the left—the sea gulls streamed over with their poetry of flight.

"Beautiful," agreed Thornton, truly impressed. He had not seen Galveston before.

"It's still warm in the water, what say we swim?" Peaches suggested it.

Everybody, except Thornton, shrieked agreement But he, too, agreed. Swimming was his favorite sport, always.

"We have no bathing suits," he demurred.

"We can rent them; two or three big bathhouses — see?" Peaches pointed to the buildings, one of them on stilts out over the gulf itself.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1938.

The Gracie Allen part of the team doesn't seem to have a monopoly on dumbness.

It has been disclosed that "a game resembling bridge was played centuries ago"—and some folks still play it that way.

After the offense is committed and the arrest made it is rather late to think about the "disgrace" of publicity—disgrace is in the act, not in the publicity.

Soon Too Late for Early Shopping.

ANOTHER day or two will wind up the opportunity for "early" Christmas shopping—in fact there are only nine days remaining for either early or late shopping before Christmas.

Better get busy tomorrow and Friday doing as much of your gift-buying as possible, for the coming Saturday promises to be another rush day in Mansfield stores, with many out-of-town shoppers attracted here by exceptionally complete and reasonably priced stocks in all lines of merchandise—with special emphasis just now on a wide variety of articles suitable for gifts.

There is an advantage, of course, in shopping during the forenoon, if possible, as stores are less crowded and greater opportunity is given for clerks to give personal attention to each customer.

To prevent disappointment in being unable to find some gift that you particularly wanted, and to avoid the jams of the final few days before Christmas, do your shopping and gift-buying without further delay—AND BUY IN MANSFIELD.

Leisure Vs. Idleness.

WITH gradual reduction of the "work week" from the seventy, or more, hours that can be remembered by some readers, to the little more than half that number of hours which now constitute a week's work in many lines of employment, the problem of how to use leisure time in a beneficial way is much more difficult of solution.

Allowing eight hours for sleep each night, which is regarded as sufficient for the average healthy adult, there is still a matter of more hours of leisure than of employment to be disposed of.

The difference between leisure and idleness was clearly explained by Rev David N. Roller, Mansfield pastor, in a talk given at yesterday's meeting of the Rotary club

Idleness is defined as "doing nothing"—a state of physical and mental lethargy in which nothing is accomplished. Leisure, on the contrary, means freedom, or opportunity afforded by exemption from occupation—a freedom to "do something."

It would be untair to assume that efforts toward reducing the "work week" to forty, or fewer, hours of employment is influenced by a desire for more hours of idleness. It is more reasonable to conclude that less hours of regular employment have an appeal because of the opportunity that would be thus given for enjoyable and productive leisure-time activities of mind and body.

Leisure is also defined as "a period of unengaged time"—a period in which an individual is unhampered by the demands of his vocation and in which he "can do as he pleases."

In a country which prides itself on the educational opportunities available to its young people, the subject of beneficial use of leisure time has been given surprisingly little attention. Unless increasing leisure, with its potentialities for progress, can be given better direction than has thus far been seriously attempted, it is more likely to become a destructive influence than a benefit to individuals and communities.

Press Freedom at Lima.

WORD COMES that there is to be no censorship of news about the Eighth Pan-American Conference now in session at Lima. Ordinarily there is government censorship in Peru, but the authorities have notified the cable and wireless companies that dispatches concerning the conference are to be forwarded without going through the censors' hands.

This does not mean that news will spread throughout the world with complete freedom There will be strict censorship on the receiving end in a large part of the world. Only such partial and "slanted" reports will be published in Germany, Italy, Japan, Russia and a number of other nations as their governments choose to make public.

Citizens of the United States, Canada and, one hopes, of Latin America, will read the news reports, hear many of the speeches by radio, and have a steady flow of interpretation and background information from well-informed observers.

Power and Work.

THE United States alone is said to be producing today one-half of all the energy obtained from coal, oil, natural gas and waterpower. That is, half the energy got by the application of intelligence and human hands to natural resources. The rest of the world, with about 1,900,000,000 people to our 130,000,000, naturally produces more energy than we do from direct man-power; but so vast is our production of mechanical energy that we Americans are doing nearly half of the whole world's work.

"The United States," observes a science writer, "is the world's largest owner, producer and consumer of minerals. It is the only country in the world possessing adequate quantities of nearly all of the principal industrial minerals. It leads the world in the production of coal, oil, natural gas, iron, copper, lead, zinc, aluminum, phosphates, gypsum and sulphur. Equalling our mineral resources are our vast agricultural lands, timber, fisheries and waterpower. And matching these in greatness is the American spirit of democracy, the only spirit under which scientific progress can be made."

And yet we have about 12,000,000 people unemployed, and don't seem able to find work for them. We cannot be successful as a nation until they have jobs.

According to statistics, a passenger would have to fly fifty million miles to be certain of being killed in a British airliner—but most folks will probably be satisfied with a fair degree of uncertainty.

Bad weather has been slowing progress of the Spanish war—both sides appearing to prefer doing their butchering on a nice day.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—"Honest Harold" Ickes, who is said at times to get so mad that like Donald Duck he bites himself, is in affable good humor these days because he is the capital's current mystery-man.

The mystery lies entirely in one element, which is: to what extent does President Roosevelt look upon his ebullient secretary of the interior as a possible candidate for the presidential mantle in 1940

Harold Ickes

And many political observers believe there will be at least a partial answer when Mr. Ickes decides whether to run for mayor of Chicago.

It is well known that Mr. Ickes is a "favorite son" of Mr. Roosevelt. They have the same objectives and enjoy achieving them in the same way. Now any political dopester knows that presidential succession rarely falls upon a cabinet member. It is a hard job to jump from the cabinet to a party nomination. If Ickes remains in the cabinet, it is likely to be accepted that he and his boss have written him off as a 1940 prospect.

* * *

Mayoralty Would Help.

BUT if he runs for mayor of Chicago, that is another matter.

If he should be elected there he would hold one of the four most important governmental executive jobs in the nation, outranked perhaps only by the presidency, governorship of New York and New York City mayoralty.

The job would put Ickes in a highly advantageous position politically. It is a big midwestern city and the midwest is already laid out as a battleground for 1940. If Ickes should become a reform mayor in the LaGuardia manner, he would be an imposing figure.

Some observers point to a cumulation of other evidence. For more than a year Ickes has been the man chosen by the president to coddle minority groups. More than any other speaker he is out in the forefront defending and championing the Roosevelt policies, all of them, not just a few. He has been the wielder of the hammer against the Roosevelt foes.

It was Ickes who spoke out against the "sixty families," whom he held up as those in control of American industry. It was the starting drive for the big monopoly investigation now in progress. In the spring of this year Ickes was championing Roosevelt as the greatest friend of the negro since Abraham Lincoln. Repeatedly he has pleased the Jewish groups by assailing Hitler and refusing helium for German airships.

* * *

Given 'Special' Polish.

ALL of this might have been accepted simply as Ickes at his rampant best were it not for another factor. Repeatedly in the past year Ickes' speeches have been toned up and polished by the great White House liberal team of Corcoran and Cohen. Rarely are those two lent for such purposes.

Further, Chicago has shared liberally in PWA grants, notably the $67,000,000 outlay for the sanitary district and the more recent $18,000,000 grant for the $40,000,000 subway.

Thus if he actually enters the race (the primary is Feb. 20), it will put new color on a picture of Ickes being groomed for the Chicago mayoralty as a first step toward shaping him up as a presidential hope.

And there isn't the slightest doubt in these parts that Ickes will take the step if he sees a real prospect that he can win the race for mayor.

Recall of Wilson Raises Question

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Just why Uncle Sam should semi-break diplomatic relations with Germany while continuing them with Italy is not very clear. To be sure, United States Ambassador William Phillips has been home from Rome even as Ambassador Hugh Wilson is home from Berlin.

However, it's evident now that Ambassador Phillips has been here merely on a little visit, whereas it's officially agreed at the state department that Ambassador Wilson is here to stay indefinitely. This doesn't exactly amount to his recall, but it bears a close resemblance to it. Moreover, the Nazis' summons of their ambassador, Hans Dieckhoff, back to Germany from Washington makes it pretty plain that Fuehrer Hitler considers that America has snubbed him.

Incidentally President Roosevelt was "too busy" to bid Dieckhoff good-bye and Secretary of State Cordell Hull's farewell to him was extremely perfunctory. Dieckhoff has been personally popular here but not the regime he has represented, apparently.

It's understandable that Uncle Samuel should be disgusted with Nazi-ism's recent behavior. Hitleristic treatment of the Jews, and, to a degree, of Catholics and Protestants too, may not be any of our national business. Still, there's justification for the view that we don't like to be on speaking terms with such an outfit.

What About Fascists?

Yet, if we can't stand the Nazis as diplomatic acquaintances, how can we stand the Italian Fascists? They're on an anti-Jewish rampage also. To date it isn't quite as violently uncivilized as the Nazis' but it's getting worse. In a way it's more shocking than the German pogrom. The Hitlerites (I don't say the decent Germans generally) seemingly have a kind of a crazily honest anti-Jewish complex.) The Fascist drive looks like a cheap imitation of it—insincere, but a Mussolini manoeuvr to win Hitler favor.

I can think of a reason or two why Nazi-ism is more offensive than Fascism to the United States.

For one thing, the Hitlerites are more industrious spics than the Italians in this country. I think the formers' effectiveness is vastly exaggerated. Nevertheless it's offensive. To say the least, Italy has been more circumspect.

Another thing, toward the southern end of our hemisphere German trade has bored in formidably. I don't contend that Germans are unentitled to do the best they can commercially in Latin America. They've done it though. Italians are more numerous than Germans in South America. Maybe the Fascist political philosophy predominates over Nazi-ism there (if there's any difference). But Germans are the better businessmen. In that respect Italy doesn't need to worry us; Germany does.

There's the Debt, too.

And then, some debt considerations are involved. Germany owes us some money. Austria owed us a $50,000,000 trifle when Germany grabbed it, and we think Germany ought to assume the obligation. Germany thinks not. That might be arguable, only the Germans are taking responsibility for other Austrian debts; not ours. Discrimination? We think so.

Parenthetically:

None of these overseas debts will be paid anyway (except honorable Finland's) but we like to have them recognized.

So I still don't see why we break relations with Germany especially.

Italy, it's true, is starting a row with France—but is even that our funeral?

Health Advice

Hysteria Is Complicated Ailment.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EVERY once in a while the newspapers carry a story about a man who went suddenly blind, stayed blind a few days and then as suddenly recovered his sight. This is in the same category with the bed-ridden invalid who is supposed to be paralyzed and to whom some faith healer makes a visit, with the result that the invalid gets up and walks.

These are all examples of the great disease of hysteria, one of the most fascinating and complicated of all mental disorders. It seems impossible that a merely mental condition can cause a person to go blind and to appear to be paralyzed.

Kind of Forgetfulness.

The psychology of hysteria has been pretty well worked out. Basically, it is probable that hysteria is a kind of forgetfulness. We say that a person is hysterical when she—is usually is a she—throws herself around, stiffens herself out, screams and "carries on." We also say that "she forgets herself" and to a certain extent she does. Her basic trouble is that she has forgotten her relationship to the actualities of existence around her.

The hysteric forgets himself and he forgets part of his body. The man who goes blind forgets his vision. When he remembers it, he has ceased to be temporarily hysterical. The paralyzed person in bed has forgotten the part of the mind that means movement in the legs. When that memory is restored the apparent paralysis is cured.

Ways to Detect It.

There are a number of ways to detect hysteria. For instance, a person will say his hand is numb. Now, there are two sets of nerves that go to the hand. One set starts fairly far up the wrist, comes down and innervates the thumb, first, second and half of the third finger; the other set comes down and innervates the middle finger and the outer side of the third finger. When there is an actual nerve disease which causes numbness, it can be outlined in one of these two areas. Hysterical numbness, on the other hand, is a numbness of the whole hand, simply as a mental image, and stops abruptly at the ring around the wrist.

The treatmeit of hysteria is by psychotherapy, although a great many curious treatments in the nature of suggestion have been used. A great deal of medicine is valuable simply because it is suggestive, not because it has any real physiological action. The best medicine for the hysteric is probably the kind that smells the worst and tastes the worst. A great deal of the old doctor's ability to cure the disease was due to the fact that he could get up as nauseating a mixture as anybody is likely to want.

A Farmer's Diary

A Life Lease.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I STOPPED my car along a narrow dirt road, close by one of the finest springs about this section, and drank of the clear, gushing stream. The road wound enticingly out of sight around the hill, and I left my car and wandered up the valley on foot.

Below the bluff, I came upon some weatherbeaten buildings. The empty, rambling barn stood uncertainly, with sagging roof and leaning sides. It looked as if a heavy weight of snow might crush it flat.

The house stood farther up the raise. At first I thought it too was abandoned, but then I noticed a small pile of coal near a little shed, and some finely split fire wood ranked upon the porch. I did not hear the slightest sound, but got the unmistakable odor of onions frying. I coughed, so that my presence might not be revealed too suddenly. My rap was followed by the startled beat of two feet upon the floor. I knew by the sound, that the owner of the feet was lame.

The door opened just a few inches, and a portion of a woman's aged face looked out. I greeted her and smiled, and when she felt no harm, she invited me to enter.

"What did you come here for?" she asked. "I can't give you anything."

"Yes, I believe you can," I answered. "I am interested in you, and in this place."

She looked more composed, and kindly. "Do you mean you'd like to buy it? If you do, I'll tell you now 'taint for sale. I've lived here nigh 75 years. Pa and Ma died thirty year ago. I been alone, ever since. I've got a lease, for my life, and I'm goin' to live it out, and enjoy it.

"My nephew splits the wood and hauls the coal. He comes along about every three weeks—and if someone else didn't bring the mail I get it from him. I have my telephone, and I can visit with the best of 'em—and when I'm not talkin' I can listen in. That way I know what's goin' on."

"This was a lovely place, when Pa lived. The land raised good crops. I haven't been down, even to the spring, for four month. It used to be lonely, at first, but now—I get along." Her light blue eyes were moist.

"Did your father work it all alone?" I asked.

"No—he didn't. A younger man worked with him. I knew him well. He went to war, in '98."

Her faced grew ardent with memories, as she coyly stroked the edge of her clean, patched apron.

Timely Editorial

Case of Everybody Losing.

France has abolished the national lottery. In ordinary gambling, it has long been demonstrated that the sucker cannot win. The record of France's lottery was even worse. No one won. It is estimated 10 billion francs went into the scheme in four years. The national treasury only got 3½ per cent. Small allotments went to charity. Awards here and there were for the winners. But most of the receipts were dissipated on operating expenses. Merchants complained people put their cash into the lottery instead of paying their bills. Those announced as winners said they were victims of greedy relatives, beggars and racketeers.

So Paul Reynaud, finance minister, says the lottery is banned as a national detriment. That should end the talk heard occasionally in this country to have a lottery to aid relief. — Toledo Blade.

Listen, World!

Which Are the Worse Highway Menaces, Speedsters or Snails?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HIGHWAY HORRORS . . . automobiles taking a deadlier yearly toll than the guns of battle. Who's to blame? Here's a couple of Public Opinions?

"THE ROAD HOG!" storms Mrs. H. A. Deierling of Sacramento, Cal.

"Why blame all the fast drivers for automobile accidents? My husband is a good driver, averages 65 miles on the open highway, never had an accident, and is fully covered by insurance. But when we are caught behind an old clunker of a car, idling along at 20, it surely burns us up.

"There is far greater danger in the slow, aimless driver of an old car than in those who drive at a reasonable rate of speed and are going some place.

"AFTER A CAR IS FIVE YEARS OLD THE LICENSE FEE SHOULD BE DOUBLED EACH YEAR. IF THIS SEEMS UNFAIR TO POORER PEOPLE, WE COULD BUILD TWO HIGHWAYS — ONE FOR THE 20-MILERS AND THE OTHER FOR THE 40-MILERS AND UP. TAKE THE JUNK HEAPS OFF THE HIGHWAYS AND IT WILL BE LOTS SAFER!"

Mrs. H. A. Deierling, age 23, Sacramento, Calif.

Whereupon steams Joseph F. Judeikis of Mollenauer, Pa.—

"Excess speeding is the cause of most traffic fatalities. Automobile manufacturers are indirect murderers by making their cars so fast and powerful!

"SPEED and POWER are the two words most stressed by auto salesmen — although they know that before many weeks have passed the car may be splattered with the blood of a maniac at the wheel or some innocent victim!

"OUR LAWS SHOULD PROHIBIT THE MANUFACTURE OF AUTOMOBILES THAT CAN EXCEED THE USUAL PRESENT-DAY LIMIT OF 50 MILES AN HOUR ON THE OPEN HIGHWAY! OR BETTER STILL, MAINTAIN OFFICIALLY SEALED GOVERNORS ON ALL CARS AND IMPOSE A SEVERE PENALTY IF ANYONE OTHER THAN AN OFFICIAL INSPECTOR TAMPERS WITH THE GOVERNOR."

Joseph F. Judeikis, age 22, Mollenauer, Pa.

ROAD HOG OR SPEED FIEND . . . seems to me it simmers down to this, neighbors. It's neither the MILEAGE nor MAKE that counts — BUT THE MAN BEHIND THE WHEEL. The trouble lies in our license LAWS. We look for the mechanical age of the motor . . . but we do not test the MENTAL AGE of its owner.

How fit is that owner to drive any machine? Is he a grouch who vents his spleen by highway heckling . . or a neurotic weakling who blows up in a crisis? . . . or a hearty human who knows how to give and take?

There are youngsters of sixteen who are sufficiently mature to handle an automobile in any crisis . . . and there are gentlemen of sixty who aren't fit to operate a scooter!

SEVERE PSYCHIATRIC TESTS AND HONEST BANK BALANCES SHOULD BE A PART OF EVERY LICENSE TEST. NO PERSON SHOULD BE GRANTED A LICENSE WHO IS NOT FIT, MENTALLY, TO GUIDE IT . . . OR ABLE FINANCIALLY, TO COMPENSATE FOR ANY DAMAGE DONE.

Sez I! And now, sez you . . .?

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Perhaps it may amuse you to know how Larry Clinton came to write his new song hit, "My Reverie," which seems to be about the most consistently hummed and crooned tune of the day.

Mr. Clinton is an orchestra leader and a writer of songs, and he has written many and varied lyric laments that have soothed and charmed your ears. But it is doubtful if any tune ever led him such a chase as the one you know as "My Reverie."

For it all began years ago, despite the fact that the song was not written until one hot night last August.

When Mr. Clinton was a little boy he used to practice piano exercises by the hour. Difficult exercises, and sometimes very dull ones, by most of the old masters. Perhaps his mother made him practice. It may even be that he sought out the piano of his own accord. I forgot to ask him. But practice he did. And one day a fragment of melody became detached from one of the mother compositions and it ran around in his brain for years.

* * *

IT NAGGED him. It irritated him. It haunted him and it charmed him. But he didn't know whose it was, or from whence it came. All he knew was there it was, bobbing up like a dim remembered picture for fleeting moments, and running away.

One night (this was that hot August night I mentioned) he sat at the keyboard, letting his fingers idle along, and before he knew it that vagrant refrain, maybe four or five bars, bobbed up again. Mr. Clinton hastily reached for a pencil and jotted it down.

Once on paper it began to appear like something from an old acquaintance. Maybe DeBussy. He began thumbing through his library. It wasn't there. He ransacked the country for DeBussy exercises. And finally he found it. It was the first eight bars of a long lost exercise he used to practice as a cub.

After that the music trailed off into technically good but dull runs along the keyboard. But the first eight bars was lovely.

So he communicated with the DeBussy estate abroad and advised them of his intentions of building a modern song around DeBussy's "lead." The governors of the estate were horrified, also aghast. Here was effrontery and a sacrilege.

* * *

BUT this particular exercise was not copyrighted in America. So Larry wrote his song, recorded it, and sent it abroad for the DeBussy people to hear. For a while the cables were hot. They were delighted. Not only were the American rights okay—it could be published all over the world where popular music is played.

Net result: the outstanding song hit of today. His recording for Victor is that company's best seller in three years. Lovely little Bea Wain, who sings the refrain, already has become known as "The Reverie Girl."

Robbins published the sheet music, giving full credit to Claude DeBussy. Now all the big names and the wistful crooners are rightfully and nightly twanging your heart strings with ". . . Only a poor fool—never schooled in the whirlpool — of romance could be so cruel—as you are to me . . ."

Maybe that DeBussy had something. He certainly could start things. All he needed was a Larry Clinton to keep him on the right track.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

CHI SIGMA SORORITY ENTERTAINS GUESTS

"Half and Half Party" Given at Possum Run Club House; Costume Award Presented to Miss Emily Cox.

HALF tennis champ and half dancing girl, half formal and half informal, half night and half day, half summer sports and half winter sports were some of the costumes worn by members of the Chi Sigma sorority and their guests at the "half and half party," which that group gave last evening at the Possum Run club house on South Main street road.

During the evening, the half and half guests were divided and some played games while the others played bridge. Then when the evening was half over, the girls traded diversions. The bridge prizes were won by the Misses Eileen Logan and Mary Garver. Mrs. Adam Brandt and Miss Emily Cox received the high prizes in the other games

Wins Prize.

Miss Cox was also the recipient of the award for the best costume. She wore a batning suit with ski pants, a bathing cap with ear muffs, one high top boot with one beach sandal, and to finish her costume, a roman striped beach robe. The official title of Miss Cox's costume was "summer and winter."

Later, luncheon was served at one long table which was attractively decorated in keeping with the holiday season. The small Christmas tree which centered the table was trimmed with colorful ornaments and lights. It was placed in a large circle of white angel's hair, from which sprigs of pine extended to opposite ends of the table. Green, red and white candles, in the shape of little Christmas trees, were placed along the pine, and with the lights of the tree, lighted the table.

The Misses Eleanor Petree, Helen Schmutzler, Mary Garver, Jane Cunningham, Eileen Logan, Rita Newcomer, Marjorie Rhoads, Marianne Springer and Mrs Janet Upson were the guests.

Committee.

Miss Sarabell Kramer was in charge of the arrangements for last night's party, and the Misses Margaret McFadden, Grace Ladd, Dorothy Clingan, Vivian Miller and Mrs. Eugene Linham assisted her

A business meeting and Christmas exchange will be an event of the sorority on Dec. 20 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Auxiliary Holds Election During Meet Yesterday

Officers for the coming year were elected during the business meeting of the Delano auxiliary last evening at Delano hall. Mrs. Arthur Shay will be the president for 1939 with Mrs. Ray Hanley serving as the vice president.

The retiring president, Mrs. Elery Cook, conducted the meeting, and other officers elected were: Mrs. Isaac Webb, recording secretary; Mrs. William Baker, financial secretary; Mrs. William Bell, treasurer; Mrs. Clay Crowl, guide; Mrs. J. H. Hamilton, guard; Mrs. Cook, general agent; Mrs. Mary Somers, chaplain; Mrs. J. H. Gerhart, Mrs. Wade Wise and Mrs. Somers, trustees.

Mrs. Hanly and Mrs. Shay were in charge of the covered-dish dinner last evening, and plans were completed for the children's Christmas party which the Delano lodge is giving at Delano hall on Dec. 23. The next regular meeting of the auxiliary will be at the hall on Dec. 27, with Mrs. Cook as hostess.

Church Influence Subject of Talk

"The Church as an Influence in the Child's Life' was the topic dealing with the general subject, "Who Is Rearing Our Children?" presented last night by Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, at the meeting of the Newman school Parent-Teacher association.

Reports of the state convention, which was held at Columbus early last month, were given by Mrs. Donald Weaver, Mrs. Chester Swank, Mrs. Katherine Reed, Mrs. Thelma Hodgson, and Mrs. Carl Kalstein.

Pupils of Miss Doris Mann's, Miss Ruth Heilman's, and Miss Isabelle Spears' sang safety songs, and the entire group sang Christmas carols.

Christmas Party Held By Mansfield Women

Mrs. William Lowman entertained members of the auxiliary to the Firemen's local with a Christmas party at her home on Franklin avenue last evening. Two guests, Mrs. Russell Whitcomb and Mrs. Betty Baker, were also present for the affair

After the business meeting, the group played games and held a Christmas exchange Mrs Charles Seeberger, Mrs. Earl Penny, and Mrs. Weldon Latimer were recipients of the prize awards.

Luncheon was served later in the evening, and Mrs. Carl Maul invited the auxiliary to her home on Foster street for the meeting of Jan. 19.

* * *

Mrs. Lawrence Slick will entertain members of the Pricillian club with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the Towne House on Friday.

O-B Girls Have Holiday Supper

The Mansfield-Leland hotel was the scene last night of the buffet supper Christmas meeting of the O-B Girls' club. There were 50 members present for the affair, and Ruth Griffith, club president, took charge of the session, while Ruth Farman presided as toastmistress.

Music was furnished by students of the Smart studio, and Miss Vivian Miller, a guest, gave the reading, "The Blessed Damozel." Following the gift exchange, Christmas carols were sung by the girls. A door prize was awarded to Ann Enderle, and plans were made to assist a family at Christmas.

* * *

Members of the M. M. M. bridge club motored to Fry's tea room in Crestline yesterday evening for dinner. Afterwards the group went to the home of Mrs Nick Siclair in Galion for a Christmas exchange.

Mrs E. L. Malone, Mrs. Richard Brunham, Mrs. Dave Mosberg and Mrs. Doug Kinton won the prizes for high score in the bridge games Mrs Burnham will entertain the club at her home on Florence avenue, Dec. 28.

Mrs. Gilbert Offers Musicale Before Guild; Elect Officers

A CHRISTMAS musicale was presented before members of the St. Paul guild last night at the meeting which was held in the home of Mrs. George Berg, South Foster street. Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert presented the numbers, and gave a brief history of the origin of Christmas carols and notes on the composers of the various numbers.

Miss Estella Arras, Miss Mary Kelsey, Mrs. Paul Lee, Mrs Roland Stahl, Mrs. Menan Weil and Mrs Don Borchardt composed a vocal sextet, and presented two numbers. Their selections were 'Blow, Winds, O, Softly Blow," a German traditional melody arranged by Muelleh, and "The People That Walked In Darkness" by Wilson.

Vocal Selection.

A solo "O, Holy Night" was sung by Miss Arras, and she and Mrs. Gilbert offered a piano duet consisting of a Christmas medley.

Election of officers followed the musicale and Mrs. Lee was selected to serve as president. The other officers are Mrs. Berg, vice president; Mrs. Borchardt, secretary; Mrs. William Hahn, assistant secretary; Mrs. Stanley Blackstone, treasurer, and Mrs. Gilbert pianist.

Business Session.

During the business meeting plans were made to purchase a missal for the church altar, and food was contributed for packing in Christmas baskets The cook books which the guild has had printed were distributed for sale.

Guests at last night's affair were Mrs J. R Brubaker, Mrs Henry Berg, and Mrs. Mary Shover. Mrs. Blackstone, 233 Bartley avenue, will be hostess to the group on Jan 10

Guest Speaker Gives Reading Before Group

Miss Hazel Manner Talks To Tourists; Club to Send Gifts.

Miss Hazel Manner was the guest speaker yesterday when members of the Tourist club met at the home of Mrs. J. Y. Salzman on Maple street. "Holly At the Door" was the title of Miss Manner's reading.

Twenty-six members were present, and Mrs. R. F. Miller conducted the business meeting, when the group donated gifts for the Girls' Industrial school at Delaware. The club is also planning to aid with the fund to provide a radio for the girls at the Industrial school, and to help the underprivileged children of the Mansfield schools.

Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert gave the history and interpretation of some unfamiliar Christmas carols. Three carols were then sung by Rev. Gilbert, and the club members joined with him in singing the more popular carols. Another feature of yesterday's program was the paper on the Arctic Islands which was presented to the group by Mrs. R. W. Cellars.

Mrs. C. V. Gates presided at the table when a Christmas luncheon was served. Mrs. Fred Berg and Mrs. Dimon Herring will be the hostesses for a luncheon meeting on Jan. 3 at the Women's club.

Miss Slack Gives Current Play at Chapter Session

"On Borrowed Time," a currently popular play, was reviewed before members of the Mary Washington chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Monday when they met with Mrs. E. W. Loughridge. The review was presented by Miss Thelma Slack, dramatic instructor at Ashland college.

Several piano selections including some of her own compositions were played and sung by Elizabeth Pastor, youthful Ashland pianist who appeared here several weeks ago with the Singers club.

Christmas decorations were used for the serving of luncheon, and tea was poured by Mrs. Rufus Tracy and Mrs. George Mead. There were 40 in attendance. Mrs. C. H. Workman was in charge of program arrangements, and Mrs. R. W. Gilbert arranged for the music. Mrs. Tracy and Mrs. Robert Gibson were guests.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Avery Hand and Miss Ada Sturges. Members will meet Jan. 9 for a conservation program with Mrs. Robert Black as hostess.

Elect Officers Tuesday At Auxiliary Meeting

Newly elected officers of the Ladies' auxiliary to the Letter Carriers' association include Mrs. Roscoe Traxler, president; Mrs. George Hoover vice-president; Mrs. Harold Lersch, secretary, and Mrs. Arthur Beidelshies, treasurer. These officers were named last night at the meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Glen Pore, Hammond avenue.

There were 10 members and one guest in attendance, and following the Christmas exchange games were enjoyed. The prize winners were Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Foster Ost and Mrs. Traxler. The next meeting will be Jan. 24 with Mrs. Harry Eyerly, Gettings place.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Presbyterian Women's guild will meet for a Christmas program in the church parlors. At 2:30 o'clock on the same afternoon, Mrs. Brinkerhoff Spear will be the hostess for Circle Four of the First Methodist Episcopal church at her home on Bartley avenue.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

ALTHOUGH he's an elderly gentleman of 99 years, you can always depend upon Rev. D. B. Millar to add a bright spot to an evening. At the public installation of Ruth chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star Monday night, it was the minister's duty to present Josephine Barnes, retiring officer, with a past matron's jewel. After giving Jo her gift, the little white-whiskered Scotsman quickly bent down and kissed her hand . . . before an audience of 300 . . . then he added (with a bright twinkle in his eye) "Now don't go and tell anyone that I did that!"

* * *

By the way, Jo looked lovely at the ceremony. She wore a quaint black taffeta formal gown, in contrast with her fair complexion and light brown hair. The dress was fashioned with a form-fitting basque, full skirt, and wrist-length leg-o-mutton sleeves. A black and white cameo necklace set off the deep cut square neck of the gown to complete Jo's costume.

* * *

FRIDAY will be a big day for two Mansfield boys and their parents. Doug Hill and Dick Schettler are coming home that day for Christmas vacation—which is the only vacation that they are permitted to leave Culver, where they both attend school. Doug, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hill, will graduate in June—and he has the distinction of having the highest scholastic average in his class Dick, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Schettler, is a plebe . . . so he has to work hard these days . . . but the uniform and infantry drill more than compensate, according to Dick.

* * *

Leoma (Parr) and Hedges Princehorn are finding Christmas in Hollywood a great deal different from Mansfield. Leoma says that Hollywood boulevard is covered with artificial snow these days, and every evening Santa drives along in his big red sleigh. . . . As an added attraction, he takes a prominent actor or actress along with him on these jaunts. Leoma has a front row seat for each evening's performance, too. . . . She's working now in an exclusive shop on the boulevard . . . where lowly handkerchiefs rise to the top price of 25 dollars per.

* * *

IN THEIR spare time—if one could find such in Hollywood, the Princehorns have designed scrap book covers . . . for fur they tried to sell them to a large department store . . . and to their surprise, the store ordered as many of the books as they could produce . . . so now they're really busy in those spare moments!

* * *

If you're under the impression that young girls and women make up the clientele of a beauty shop (with an occasional gentleman's manicure on the side), you've been mistaken all these years. Frequent visitors of one of the local shops are two little platinum haired dolls—and I really mean dolls. They belong to young Julia Colby and Shirley Anson . . . and incidentally, their favorite coiffure is of the Shirley Temple ringlet variety.

* * *

Who wouldn't envy Mrs. Paul Endriss? The diminutive lady is taking off—with her husband—early in January on a trip through the southwest and west that will take seven weeks. They'll be in Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Phoenix, Los Angeles, Reno and San Francisco. And did you know her husband is quite a hand at mixing up a batch of roquefort salad dressing? He is.

Orchestral Music Discussed By Mrs. Gibson for Sorosis

WHEN 27 members of the Mansfield Senior Sorosis answered roll call last night at the Women's Club with Christmas verses, Mrs. Edward Gibson and Miss Ruth Culbertson were on hand to present the program.

During the business session conducted by Mrs. John Angle, president, it was decided that the organization would adopt a family for Christmas, and toys were presented to be sent to the Friendly House for the holidays. A voluntary contribution was made to subscribe to three magazines to be sent to the Delaware Girls Industrial school.

Paper On Music.

Mrs. Gibson spoke on "Facts About the American Orchestra, Thomas and Damrosch." She told of the beginnings of orchestral music, and described the Boston Philharmonic and famous conductors She stated that it was Theodore Thomas "who really started things."

"His early belief was that America was big enough to have not more than one orchestra, and now orchestras are as thick as flies," the speaker said. Mrs. Gibson told of the rivalry among Thomas, Leopold and Damrosch, before speaking of the early life of Damrosch. She told that he had familiarized us with the German opera and Wagner. He has accomplished a great deal in musical education through his appreciation programs, Mrs. Gibson pointed out.

Gives Review.

Miss Culbertson then reviewed from memory Selma Lagerlof's "Memories of My Childhood." The story tells of the writer's childhood memories. She was the first woman to be awarded the Nobel prize.

Mrs. Earl Paxton was hostess for the meeting yesterday. Plans were made for the annual Christmas party which will be held Dec. 20 with Mrs. W. R. King. The committee includes Mrs. W. J. Bishop, Mrs. A. E. Courtney, Miss Mary Lampert and Mrs. W. H. Gifford.

* * *

Miss Lea Pinsky, Ruleville, Miss., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Blank, 26 Reba avenue, over the holidays.

P. T. A. Groups Sing Holiday Songs at Meets

Several Organizations Have Yuletide Music On Programs.

ACTIVE Parent-Teacher groups in the city were busy last night as their various presidents called sessions for Christmas programs and convention reports. The children at Carpenter school presented a yuletide program for their parents, and during the short business meeting gifts were presented to the patrol boys.

Mrs. Guy Ferguson conducted the meeting of Bushnell P. T. A. last night, and appointed Mrs. Bert Weaver and Mrs. A. R. McCartney to purchase gifts for the patrol boys. These gifts will be presented to the group at the Christmas program which will be given at the school Dec. 21.

Teachers Give Program.

Teachers of the building presented the program which opened with group singing of carols. Miss Hazel Manner gave the readings, "The Little Shepherd's Trusts," and "Siegfried and Honda." "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler and "Fiddler's Souvenir" were played by Sigrid Jorgensen.

Contests followed and Miss Lena Heim, Miss Willett Keyser, Miss Hazel K. Zellner and Frank Bennett won the prizes. Luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. The next session will be Jan. 10.

Membership of 190.

There are now 190 members in the Parent Teachers association of Bowman street school, it was announced last night at a regular meeting of the group in the school building.

Raymond Dent led the group in singing Christmas carols, after which Miss Ruth Draper, children's librarian at the Public library, exhibited and told about new children's books. Mrs. Don Rudolph Bgave a resume of the state Parent Teachers association convention in Columbus last month, and the program was concluded with a play "The Golden Key," presented by Miss Florence White. On Feb. 14, the club will have a covered dish dinner at the school building.

Name Committee Heads At Meeting

Committee chairmen for the coming year were announced last evening during the business meeting of the Joan of Arc circle, Daughters of Isabella at their club rooms in the Bird building. Mrs. P. J. McNeill will be the social chairman for the year, and Miss Mary Rizzo is the chairman of the sick committee.

Card games were played after the business meeting, with score prizes going to Mrs. W. G. Guisinger and Mrs. G. M. Risacher. The group had a Christmas exchange and luncheon later in the evening. Miss Marie Hecht will be in charge of the January meeting, the date of which will be announced later.

Lemon hard sauce or orange sauce served in halves of the fruit skin help solve the serving problem. Serve on large tray and let the guests take their choice.

DRAMA GROUP GIVES A. A. U. W. PROGRAM

Miss Fannie Lew Eiler Presents Chorus of 60 In Christmas Carols; Miss Edith Ross Directs Play.

DINNER was served to 70 old and new members of the Mansfield branch of the American Association of University Women last night in the library of the First Congregational church preceding a program of music and drama. Miss Fannie Lew Eiler directed a chorus of 60 children from the seventh and eighth grades at John Simpson Junior high school.

The long tables were attractively decorated with sprays of pine to which red and silver Christmas tree balls were attached, and lighted red tapers tied with bows of tulle.

George Porterfield, who acted as master of ceremonies and gave brief accounts of each number presented, read several short poems written by Todd Strohminger. The musical selections were all Christmas carols. Marilyn Gernhardt, accompanied by her mother Mrs. G. P. Gernhardt, sang a solo as did David Weimer. The violin obbligato was played by Gloria Disbennett and Lawrence Frank was the accompanist.

One-Act Play.

Miss Edith Ross directed the cast of "The Purple Door Knob," a one-act play, which followed the musical selections. The cast included Mrs. J. C. Stout, Mrs. Charles Kuntz and Miss Frances E. Gensley.

During the brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. K. E Buhr, president, routine reports were given. Mrs. Milo Hieber announced the names of new members. Those welcomed last night were Miss Elizabeth Ackerman, Mrs. R. M. Calene, Mrs. E. P. Gaar, Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Miss Eleanor Petree, Miss Marianne Springer, Mrs. J. H Fry, Mrs. R. D. Lindsay and Mrs. V. A. Simpson.

Set Dance Date.

Mrs. Harold E. Baer announced that the next meeting of the Consumer Purchasing group would be held Jan. 19 with Mrs. W. S. White. Mrs. R. D. Campbell spoke on behalf of the dance committee, stating that the mid-year semi-formal social function would be held Feb. 4.

The program was presented by Mrs. Merritt Giles, program chairman, who introduced Miss Eiler, and Mrs. F. A. Hoffman, who announced the play. The next meeting will be Jan. 10 with members of the Problem of the Month group in charge of the program

Christmas was the keynote for a meeting of the Semper Fidelis club yesterday. The club met with Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly on Gibson avenue for a Christmas exchange. When the luncheon was served later in the afternoon, the round table was centered with a pretty lighted Christmas tree, and the refreshments were decorated with Christmas color. Mrs. Raymond Neff and Mrs. Harry Sullivan were prize winners for the card games.

Dinner Served to Girls' Club At Marion Hotel

Girls belonging to the Three Star club were entertained last night at a Christmas dinner held in the ballroom of the Hotel Harding at Marion. The hostesses were Jean Brillhart, Leota Click and Ethel Brown.

A table decoration of reindeer, holly and colorful appointments were used on the dinner table, and a gift exchange followed the meal.

Bridge and Chinese Checkers were played by the guests, and prizes went to Opal Crone, Marylou Elsass, Lois Cooper and Lucille Smith. Miss Smith was awarded the prize for having most attractively dressed a doll to be presented to the Three Muster-Cheers. W. C. Mead presented the dolls, and each girl in the club dressed one.

Members will again meet Jan. 10 at Ashland with Miss Crone and Miss Smith.

Trip To Ireland Topic of Talk By Mrs. Conners

Mrs. John Conners told the members of the Travelers' club yesterday noon of her trip to Ireland. Mrs. Frank Voegele was the hostess for this 11 o'clock meeting at the Women's Club, and after Mrs. Conners' talk, the group had luncheon.

Mrs. F. A. Chamberlain will be the hostess for a meeting of the club on Jan. 10 at the Women's Club. The group will meet at 11 o'clock in the morning during the coming year; with 1 o'clock luncheons afterward.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or your stomach, You feel sour, sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

Understanding Most Needed By Youth

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

To an audience that frequently exchanged sly smiles under his nose, Mr. Will Durant, whom you'll remember as the author of the "Story of Philosophy," urged a return to the ungentle art of birching adolescents. The admonition occurred at the Thirteenth Session of the National Jewish Forum in Washington, D. C., when he gave five reasons why America is becoming a "sissy" nation.

The five foundations he selected were physical, biological, moral, economic and political. There isn't space to give all of Mr. Durant's findings. But "biologically we face the fact that the class of Americans producing the largest number of children has the least to give them in health, character and ability.

"Our moral character, our 'guts' or self-control is diminished because these qualities are no longer forced on us by large families nor the old-fashioned schoolmaster with a cane in his right hand and a book in his left."

Think over this country's great names. There were no silver spoons at birth in the mouths of Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Edison, Mark Twain and dozens more, who've helped build this "sissy" nation. Rather inconsistently, Mr. Durant seems to feel that the large families, as well as the old-fashioned schoolmaster with the cane in one hand and the book in the other, will prove to be our salvation.

At her last press conference, Mrs. Roosevelt said that her conviction grew day by day that it is important to keep in touch with youth; that it is well to follow sympathetically the trend of organized groups of young people. She concluded, saying that if we look back into our own youthful past, we find how often we changed our minds

Sympathy, understanding and tolerance in dealing with youth was what Mrs. Roosevelt advocated, which is a better medicine than caning. Who are the boys that run away from home? Who are the girls called 'incorrigible?" They're youngsters who have been beaten and cruelly treated at home.

Perfume Reflects Type

By MME. QUI VIVE

If ever clothes cried out for sweet and subtle perfumes it is now.

It is in the selection of a perfume that a woman expresses personality. What appeals to one will turn up the supercilious nose of another. The athletic girl turns to woodsy scents. The flashing brunet who likes to appear dramatic can't resist perfumes that are a bit heady—rose, tuberose, oriental blends. They are stimulating and arresting They suit her.

The less dashing femme will avoid the exotic, will follow the new trend which offers some of the good old timers, like violet, primrose, jonquil and mignonette. Or blends that are like a whiff of an old fashioned garden on a dewy June morning. They are romantic to a high degree. They are suggestive of lavender and old lace, suitable for this day when hoops are whooping.

* * *

Fine perfumes are expensive. But by using an atomizer an ounce will last for months. After the bath, when the flesh is warm, spray the chest and arms. The sweet fragrance will remain with one all the day long.

Play safe, purchase a small amount. Some perfumes are like some individuals we meet now and then; they make an elegant impression at first and then grow stale, or at least one tires of them. When you hit upon a happy choice stick to it. In course of time all your wardrobe will be impregnated with the floretted essences.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

At the queer look on Noel's face, Mary, whose body had tensed for a spring into his arms, stopped almost "in mid-air" and shrank back against me. I knew that the first thing to be done was to get rid of the bell boy's probably curious eyes, and with a casual, "Ah! Noel. I'm afraid we are late," I tipped the boy and dismissed him. Noel, of course, at once grasped the bags and I hurried Mary into the room, closing the door myself, so that I might turn my back to the reunited married sweethearts.

When I turned around, Mary was in Noel's arms as I expected, but instead of rapturous whispering, I was astounded to hear him say in injured tones:

"Whatever kept you so long? I've been watching the clock for hours. I thought you were coming right after luncheon."

"I know, darling. I'm terribly sorry. I've been watching the clock, too. But you see, Uncle Dicky had given the boys money to see a picture and have an early dinner with us before they left, and as it's the last time I'll see them for a long while, I thought I ought to go with them. They would have been terribly disappointed if I hadn't gone."

"I—see." Noel's spacing of the words was in itself an irritation, and I heard Mary catch her breath—a storm signal that I hoped Noel would heed.

"I suppose the fact that I was eating my heart out here with uncertainty, and that we do not know when we can see each other again held no attraction for you when weighed in the scales with your brothers' wishes."

Mary was out of his arms by this time, and was looking at him with eyes that held brilliance but no warmth.

"If that's what you're thinking of me," she said, and I knew that even through her anger she was giving him a chance to reconsider his words "then I'm afraid I've made a big mistake coming here How about it, Auntie Madge —she turned to me with a brave show of nonchalance— 'don't you think we'd better beat it?"

Noel chokingly exclaimed, 'Mary!" but added no apology, and though I longed to box his ears for his stupidity, I knew I must say no direct word against him.

"Look here! you two anointed idiots," I said, laughing, although I never felt less like mirth, "you're both too nervous and upset to speak, let alone to decide anything. Where's my room, Noel?"

"Over there," he said courteously, indicating a closed door with his free hand.

"Then I'm going into it and lie down," I said. "I'm dead tired. Don't either of you dare to disturb me for at least three hours. At the end of that time, call me and we'll discuss dinner, although I'm going to have mine on a tray in my room. The rest of this day is going to be a rest cure for me, and I warn you"—I shook an apparently mirthful forefinger at them—"I'm going to stand for no nonsense from either of you. I've planned this reunion for you with much care and preparation, and you're going to be 're-unioned' or I'm going to know the reason why."

In the Soup

New soup garnish: Spread inch-thick slices of white bread (without the crusts) with equal parts of butter and yellow cream cheese to which has been added a little minced onion and parsley. Put the bread on a baking sheet and cut into half-inch squares. Toast until well browned, stirring with a fork several times to allow even browning. Add a dash of salt and pass in a bowl.

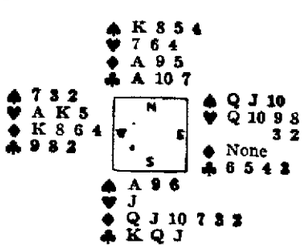
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

THE SMOTHER PLAY

One of the prettiest, yet least understood, maneuvers in the game is that which has become known as the "smother play." It is a device to prevent a trump trick by an opponent who seems offhand to have a secondary honor so thoroughly guarded that he is sure of a trick.

Opportunities for the play are rare, but its execution brings enough satisfaction to the real bridge artist to last him for a good while.



(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

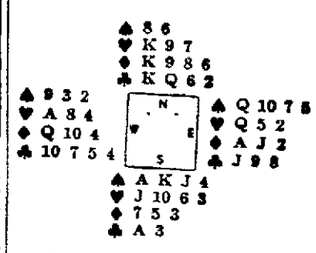
North and South reached a contract of 5-Diamonds on this deal. South having started with a bid of 1-Diamond, after a pass by East, and North having jumped to 2-No Trump. South went to 3-Diamonds. North 4-Diamonds and South 5-Diamonds.

The heart K was cashed by West, who followed with the heart A. South ruffed with the diamond 2 and played the diamond Q, which held. Next came a diamond to the 9 and when it seemed certain that West was bound to win the diamond K, South discontinued that suit. He next played three rounds of clubs and two of spades, and ruffed a heart. Then a losing spade was offered with the hope that East would have to take it. When he did, he was in the position where he could return only a heart or a club.

His selection was a heart, on which South played the diamond 10. West was in the position where he had to under-ruff or put on his King. In either event declarer makes game.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer). South. Neither side vulnerable.)

How should West defend South's 3-No Trump contract, the original lead having been the club 4, if declarer tries to set up hearts?

Appetizers

Christmas dinner starters: Clam and tomato juice cocktail (equal portions) pepped up with a dash of lemon juice, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce, served very cold, or avocado pear halves stuffed with a frozen mixture of crushed pineapple, cream cheese and pimiento-stuffed olives. Pass Frech dressing.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Dec. 15

The planetary rulership on this day is doubtful and perplexing, with many problems and readjustments needed to promote well-being, prosperity and happy relations, particularly with elders and superiors or old established institutions. This situation calls for some compromises, as many dangers lurk in open opposition and through subtle and probably sinister undercurrents.

Finances are in jeopardy, so shun ways of trickery and deceit, especially in investments and other important ventures that affect both the private and business lives.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of perplexity, limitation and setback, with a tendency to gloom and depression caused by frustration. There are signs of opposition from elders or superiors, and also of treacheries and sinister schemes from large organizations. All affect finances, investments and property, and may have gloomy reactions on the personal life. Be alert to fraudulent propositions or manipulations.

A child born on this day may have a difficult character to analyze or understand, as it may be rigid, hidebound and tenacious, with tendencies to manage affairs by strategem or peculiar tactics. Its intentions may not be sinister, although they may be misjudged and excite bitter opposition

ADVISES MORE STUDY ON PARK METER SYSTEM

Junior Association Finds Plan Popular in Zanesville But Fails to Endorse It.

The Mansfield Junior Association of Commerce announced today that it had found parking meters popular and profitable in Zanesville after an investigation of the system there, but failed to endorse installation of meters in Mansfield.

A committee representing the association recommended, among other things, further study of the parking meter plan in other cities before action is taken to install the meters here.

"We believe that in this manner the city of Mansfield can arrive at a decision which will not be based on guesswork and which will in the end benefit the city and townspeople," the committee's report said.

Members of the committee who went to Zanesville Saturday to study the meters and interview city officials were Benton Goodenough, Robert Finical, George Schuchmann, and Robert Nye.

The organization's favorable report on the meters in Zanesville was in line with the findings of a group of city officials who went to Zanesville two weeks ago to study the parking meter plan.

Makes 6 Recommendations.

In its report the committee recommended:

1. A study of other cities now using parking meters; 2. A study of cities which have tried parking meters and taken them out; 3. A definite set-up as to where the revenue derived from parking meters would be allocated; 4. A thorough check-up of all meters on the market and appointment of a non-political committee to investigate the meters and eliminate any possible graft in the sale of them; 5. An investigation of the financial responsibility of all potential vendors of meters to the city; 6. Appointment of a committee representing civic and service groups and merchants' organizations to study the meter plan with city officials.

After conferring with Zanesville's mayor, service director, merchants, civic leaders and rural residents near the city, the JAC committee found that the meters in Zanesville have increased the city's revenue, providing for an additional police officer, virtually eliminated double parking in congested areas, and increased tourist trade in the city.

St. John's Organization Has Yuletide Affair Last Night

AT THE holiday season church groups are always particularly busy, and those in Mansfield are no exception. Among the groups meeting was the Lucky 13 class which met in the basement of the St. John Evangelical and Reformed church for a Christmas exchange and contests.

Winners were Miss Ruth Ferguson, Miss Ruth Stutz, Mrs. Clara Ritter, Miss Jean Gilbert and Mrs. Amalie Griesbach. Mrs. Ritter read a Christmas story as did Miss Kay Meyer.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be Miss Clara Moyer, Mrs. Griesbach, Mrs. Marie Huebner. The session will be Jan. 10.

Mayflower Church Class Has Dinner.

A Christmas party and covered-dish dinner was served to members of the Love and Friendship class of the Mayflower Congregational church when they met yesterday with Mrs. William Gressmer, Louise avenue. Miss Ruby Boyer was associate hostess, and Mrs. E. W. Sutter and Miss Evelyn Mae Gressmer were guests.

A lighted tree and colorful trimmings decorated the rooms and the table. When Miss Imogene Bennett, president, was in charge of the business meeting, she was re-elected to her office.

Others elected are Mrs. Ralph Bloom, vice president; Mrs. John Arnold, secretary; Miss Grace Finical, treasurer, and Mrs. Mark Southward, teacher. A Christmas exchange followed, and the class presented the teacher with a gift.

Mrs. Southward, who will assist Mrs. Roscoe Harter, South Main street road, in entertaining the group Jan. 10, won the contest prize.

Several Smaller Groups Entertain.

There were eight members of the Lady Esther class of the First Lutheran church present at the home of Radene Hill, Greenwood avenue, last night. A doll was dressed for welfare work, and games were played with Mrs. Luella White and Miss Lena Mae Hummel winning prizes. Christmas appointments were used when the luncheon was served.

A covered-dish dinner was served to 32 members and guests of the Golden Rule class of St. Mark's Lutheran church yesterday. Mrs. Marshall Long was in charge of the business meeting at the church and Mrs. Owen McCracken led the devotions in the church rooms.

The reading "Father Comes Home" was given by Mrs. Emma Smith, and Rev. J. L. Wolf, former pastor, was a guest. Mrs. Long, Lida street, will entertain Jan. 10.

Conduct Gift Exchange At Holiday Party.

Contests and a Christmas exchange were the diversion of the evening following the covered-dish dinner served to 30 members of the Young Married People's class of the Nazarene church last night. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bayer, 138 Blanche street, were hosts.

There were 35 present for the family dinner and Christmas party of the Judge Mansfield Bible class of the First Presbyterian church last night in the church parlors. A program of music and readings were given with Mrs. D. N. Roller appearing on the program.

Gifts were presented from a decorated tree by Judge Mansfield and Ralph Stanton, present teacher. The next meeting will be Jan. 10 at the church.

PLAY BRIDGE.

Members of the American Legion Bridge club met yesterday at the home of both auction and contract. Mrs. L. W. Hamaker, a guest, was awarded a high score prize. Auction winners were Mrs. R. V. Morgan and Mrs. C. E. Sanderson. The contract prizes were presented to Mrs. C. E. Benedict and Mrs. Earl Saltzgaber. The next meeting will be Dec. 27 with Mrs. James Brownscombe as hostess.

Play Read By Mrs. Paul Eliot At Monthly Pilgrim Luncheon

THE spirit of Christmas permeated the home of Mrs. George Stephens, Marion avenue, yesterday when she entertained 58 members of the Pilgrim guild of the First Congregational church at a luncheon and program given at her home. The stairway was attractively decorated with alternated arrangements of Jerusalem cherry plants and English holly. The buffet table was set with lighted tapers and small figures, and the rooms of the house were all decorated with typical holiday articles.

Associate hostesses for the affair were Mrs J. R. Small, Mrs. L. A. Peck, Mrs. Todd Patton, Mrs. W. B. Osborn, Mrs. Don Chapman, Mrs. Dwight Smith, Mrs. Frank Maxwell, Mrs. T. Y. McCray and Mrs. Paul Stephens.

Holiday Drama.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Paul Williams, chairman of the program committee. The play, "Christmas Day in the Morning," by Grace Richmond, was read by Mrs. Paul Eliot. She, assisted by Mrs. R. B. Barker, Mrs. Claude Ewing and Mrs. L. S. Houk gave musical illustrations of the play. Mrs. Houk also played violin selections.

Members agreed during the brief business meeting to present toys to the Friendly House for Christmas, and they brought gifts for contributing to the Three Muster-Cheers. The next meeting of the organization will be Jan. 10 at the home of Mrs. E. W. Loughridge.

Discuss Plans At Study Club

Discussion of the program for the year 1939 occupied members of the St. John's Study club last night when Miss Hildegard Fensch, 176 Newman street, entertained. Each member is scheduled to give a book review or tell a story during the year.

Luncheon was served buffet style from a table decorated with a silver tree and four blue tapers. Miss Lillian Conley poured. The next meeting will be in January, but neither place nor date was announced.

Linnaeus Club Has Gift Exchange At Mrs. Lanehart's

The Christmas party of the Linnaeus Garden club was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. H. L. Lanehart, 202 Bennett street. Mrs. Charles Chew was the associate hostess for the 1 o'clock luncheon. The luncheon table was centered with a large crystal bowl of red carnations, white chrysanthemums and evergeen, a gift from Mrs. Charles Payne.

Before the meeting there was a gift exchange of potted plants in colorful containers. Mrs. Frank Glasgow led a round table discussion on the timely topic of "Christmas Decorations." The club members had arranged several Christmas wreaths and mantel decorations which they had on display yesterday.

"Soil Care" will be the subject for discussion at the club's next meeting on Jan. 17 at the home of Mrs. R. J. Hammer, 872 Dickson parkway. The associate hostess on that day will be Mrs. K. E. Buhr.

Activities of Social Clubs

Two tables of cards were in play yesterday when Mrs. George Slicker, Lincoln Heights, entertained members of the Knotty club. Mrs. H. R. Roberts and Mrs. Guy Weirick were the winners. A color scheme of green and silver was used at the luncheon table, and a gift exchange was held. Mrs. Ralph Smith will be hostess at her Lincoln Heights home on Jan. 10.

* * *

A surprise Christmas dinner was served yesterday to members of the Rosalie club when Mrs. John Van Cura, Lexington avenue road, welcomed members to her home. After the dinner a Christmas grab bag was conducted.

Plans were made to have one guest meeting each year. Hearts were played, and prizes were won by Mrs. Frank Williams and Mrs. Helen McClellan. The next meeting will be a 1 p. m. luncheon Jan. 10 at the home of Mrs. Williams, 141 Highland avenue.

* * *

Miss Mary Beilstein, West First street, assisted by Miss Clara Yeager were the hostesses last night for the Christmas dinner which was served to the 20 members of the E-T club. There was a pal gift exchange held by members. Plans were made to hold the next meeting Jan. 10 at the home of Miss Helen Berlo, 345 South Diamond street.

* * *

LUNCHEON HOSTESS.

Mrs. W. C. B. Harris entertained members of the Friends Dinner club at her home on West Third street yesterday noon. The dinner table was decorated with Christmas appointments and the afternoon was spent socially.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT
CLEANS, PURIFIES LIKE MAGIC
Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes—Rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

MANSFIELD BOY SCOUT LEADER TALKS TO CLUB

Galion Rotarians Hear Dent Give Address on Scouting at Yule Party.

GALION — A Christmas party for wives and guests was held Tuesday evening at Carmel's by the Galion Rotary club. There were 45 present to hear a talk by Floyd Dent of Mansfield, Boy Scout executive.

Dent told of the similarity of the Rotary and Boy Scout movements. He explained that both organizations were organized nearly the same time, Rotary in 1905 and the Boy Scout organization in 1907.

He said that Rotary has six objectives, while the Boy Scouts have the three points of the Scout oath and the 12 laws. Both organizations have high ideals for its members and both have international conventions. Another similarity is the service motive both have, and the fact that both groups have few paid executives and no property holdings.

Boxes of candy were presented to the women guests. Other guests present included Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Montoya of Ashland; Mrs. Floyd Dent of Mansfield; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schinek of Chicago, and Mrs. O. Berry.

Surrender Due

F. Donald Coster, shown above, is president of the McKesson and Robbins drug company under investigation by the securities and exchange commission, and was expected to surrender today on a charge of false registration with the stock exchange. The company's financial figures is said to disclose a $10,000,000 "shortage" in assets.

DIFFICULT TO BEND OVER TO LACE SHOES

Caught Colds Easily—Muscles and Joints Stiff and Sore.

Says World's Tonic a Blessing.

When the intestinal tract fails to function properly poisonous waste matter gathers and works its way out in an unnatural manner. This weaken's one's resistance and leaves one easy prey to common colds, fevers and pains of many sorts. Read how Mr. G. T. Payne of 385 Lombard St., Akron, O., tells of building resistance to stop being AN EASY COMMON COLD CATCHER:

"For a long time I was easy prey for colds which I caught at the slightest provocation. They would attack in different places, sometimes my kidneys would suffer, then again my entire back would ache and pain. It was agony to bend over and put on my shoes. At these times I'd suffer a rush of blood to the head, dizziness and spots before my eyes would leave me bewildered and helpless. Often at the slightest irritation, I'd be seized with fits of sneezing, my eyes would become all watery and bleary and I felt like a worn out old man. I was way underweight and had a very poor memory. Had to get up often during the night and felt so cranky all the time that I was not fit to live with. I was forever badly constipated and never seemed to get rid of the taste of food in my mouth.

"I started taking WORLD'S TONIC chiefly for my constipated condition and want to say right here that the immediate relief I enjoyed was really a blessing. But that wasn't all, I was amazed as one by one, all the other miseries that go hand in hand with constipation fell away. Aches and pains, stiff and cracking joints and limbs, dizziness and that old man feeling went on their way and left me rejoicing. Taking care of constipation has certainly increased my resistance and I don't catch cold so easily now. The bad taste has left my mouth and I can put on my shoes without those exhausting spells, and it is no longer necessary to get up at night so much. WORLD'S TONIC certainly straightened me out in great shape."

WORLD'S TONIC is an aid to the intestinal tract and acts as a mild diuretic to the kidneys.

WORLD'S TONIC is for sale at Central and all other modern Drug Stores.—Adv. (E 31)
